ADJOURN SPECIAL SESSION

Gov. Landon's Visit Is Eagerly Awaited

Four women who played parts in the early life of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansan, the Republican presidential nominee, will hold a reunion at West Middlesex, when the Kansas governor visits his birthplace for a campaign address, Saturday, Aug. 22. The four women are shown above. Top, Mrs. A. A. Young, left, a neighbor at whose home the reunion will be held, looks over a Landon clipping with Mrs. Mary Reed Baird, Landon nurse. Below, Mrs. Wash Dunham, left, helped care for Landon as a baby, and right, Mrs. Harry White, also helped take care of the Republican standard bearer in his early years.

Fallston Hill Crash Takes Third Victim

Father Follows Wife And Son In Death Result Of Thursday's Accident

Beaver County District Attorney Orders Hill Closed To Traffic

(International News Service)

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 7.—A 16-year-old girl, Bonita Bromley, lay in the Beaver Valley General hospital today unaware that the burning pyre of a wrecked automobile from which she escaped with only superficial burns and bruises had taken the lives of her mother, father and 12-year-old brother.

Mrs. Henrietta Bromley, the mother, and Bert, the brother, were burned to death before they could be extricated from the flaming mass of wreckage caused when a heavy moving van, rounding "death curve" on nearby Fallston hill, toppled over on the Bromley sedan, crushed it and dragged it 57 feet, trapping its occupants. All were from Brentwood, Md., vacation-bound.

Father Succumbs.

Bertram M. Bromley, 35, husband and father of the victims, was pulled from the fire, suffering burns which proved fatal early today.

The owner-driver of the van, Mason McCulloch, 32, of Detroit, and his helper, Alfred Brain, 34, also of Detroit, escaped injury. It was Brain who took the pretty Bonita from the flames in time to save her life. Both men were being held pending outcome of the coroner's investigation, in which state police were aiding.

A few hours after the accident, District Attorney Robert E. McCreary closed the hill to traffic, branding the highway a "public menace". At least 10 persons have died in accidents on the "death curve" in the last few months.

Family On Vacation Tour.

Investigation disclosed the happy family were California bound for a vacation, having left their Maryland home only a few hours before meeting death in a fiery grave on a section of highway variously branded, in the past as "murderous", "treacherous", "forbidden", "menacing" and "wholly unsafe".

Special police were assigned by McCreary to patrol the now taboo stretch of road. It was not immediately made clear what steps would be taken to eliminate the hazard, though some such action was made

Madrid Defense Is Strengthened To Meet Rebels

Leftist Government Seeks To Reassure Populace Of Capital City

LOYALIST ARMY FORCED TO RETREAT

Government Claims That Move Was Done For Strategic Purposes

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Aug. 7.—Although trying to calm the public with reassuring statements, Madrid's Leftist government prepared today for possible bombardment by rebel armies advancing from the north, and acted swiftly to strengthen the capital's defense as the Loyalist army was forced to retreat at two strategic points on the northern front.

The government admitted retreat in the Sierra Guadarrama, but hastened to explain it as 'strategic". At the same time, however, the Madrid populace was ordered to extinguish all lights at night time, and it was announced all subway entrances would be thrown open to the public as shelter from air bombardment or artillery shelling.

"No alarm need be felt," a government announcement said. "The precautions are perfectly normal under the circumstances. All who fail to put out their lights will be fined."

Prepare To Meet Challenge.

The government lost no time in otherwise preparing to meet the strong rebel challenge. General Riquelme, who commanded the loyal forces in the Sierras north of Madrid for the last two weeks, was recalled to Madrid to act as "general adviser" in the crisis.

Presumably the capital's defense will be put in his hands.

Girl In 1919 Georgia Baby Mixup Case Picks New Parents

Madeline Louise Pittman, 17-year-old Georgia girl, who was involved in the famous "mixed babies" case at the Grady Hospital in Atlanta in 1919, has decided definitely that the John C. Garners of Macon and not the Daniel L. Pittmans of Atlanta, who raised her, are her real parents. A court ruling in 1920 held that she should remain with the Pittmans "until she becomes of age to decide for herself." Madeline Louise Pittman, now Mary Louise Garner, is pictured with Mrs. John C. Legislators End Special Session After Long Strife

Fourteen Weeks Session Is Concluded About 5 O'clock This Morning

Governor Signs Bills Immediately After Action By Legislature Today

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Completing 14 weeks of legislative strife—marked throughout by the most turbulent political dissension in the state's history—the $50,500,000 special session of the legislature adjourned sine die early today.

The 19th special session, second longest ever held, came to an end at 5:18 o'clock this morning after both branches had been in session over a period of approximately 19 hours in settling final issues before them. Senate and house clocks, stopped since yesterday morning, officially recorded adjournment as of noon Thursday.

Agreement was reached on all but one problem—the controversial unemployment insurance bill—as political compromises effected the final adjournment.

Governor Signs Measures

Gov. George H. Earle, waiting at the executive mansion with other Democratic administration leaders immediately signed the measures approved, enacting them into law. He planned to begin a fortnight's vacation over the week-end.

Principal bills on which agreement was reached after a long day and night of partisan maneuvering, included the general relief appropriation bill, totaling $22,283,789; the four per cent increase in the corporate net income tax, and the Brancato mothers' assistance measure.

Mock ceremony and tomfoolery ruled in the house as adjournment neared.

Governor Landon Works On Campaign Speech For West Middlesex

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7.—A flood of letters from men and women, pledging their support, continued today to inundate the office of Gov. Alfred M. Landon as he turned from political appointments to prepare the three speeches he will deliver on his coming invasion of the industrial east.

A sincere and dramatic religious note ran through many of the letters received by the governor. One especially touched him. It was written by a New York state farmer's wife (Mrs. Frank M. Storck), whose ancestors landed in America in 1633 and whose men folk have fought in every American war. From Treadwell, N. Y., she wrote Landon:

Hopes He Is Next President

"Since the first time I read about you, it has been my hope and prayer that you may become our next president.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 7.—Governor Landon's appeal to the business men of Kansas to help the farmers in the drought crisis has a strange and unusual ring in these New Deal days. We have become so accustomed for the past three years to seeing those in official position meet every situation with a handout of the taxpayers' money, that the suggestion that it is desirable and actually practical for one group of citizens to help another group which finds itself in distress is almost counter-revolutionary.

It is a call for real co-operation. Not the so-called co-operation to share government cash. The sort that is another name for coercion. That carries penalties for non-observance of a scheme evoluted by some professorial theorist from a blue-print. It is a revival of the old-fashioned common sense American belief that by helping your neighbor you also help yourself.

Mr. Landon's statement: "We have always been a self-reliant people in Kansas," arouses a reverberating echo in many other states of the union.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Dominic Didato, alias Terry Burns, one-time partner and later an arch enemy of vice overlord Charlie (Lucky) Luciano, was killed by gangland bullets in front of a lower east side restaurant today.

Four lead slugs pierced the body of Didato who apparently had been summoned from the restaurant to meet death. Police, unable to find anyone who witnessed the gunfire, found a .38-calibre revolver with four exploded shells beside the body. In the racketeer's pockets, they discovered $2,160.

Loan Mounts To Michigan Guard

Twenty Horses Are Shipped To Camp Custer Thursday For Use Of Michigan Troops

SGT. MEASEL TO CARE FOR HORSES

Twenty of Troop F's horses were shipped to Camp Custer, Allegen, Mich., where they will be loaned to the Michigan National Guardsmen who are encamped there, during the next two weeks.

The horses were accompanied by Sergeant Homer Measel, who will remain with the animals until the Michigan troopers are through and will then bring them back to New Castle.

This will result in a change of training activity of the local troop during the next two weeks, as it will result in a shortage of mounts for the men.

The regular drill will take place this evening at 7:30, however, at the stables, Capt. George F. Mitchell, commander of the troop, stated today.

The troop polo team, strengthened by the return of Lieut. George Seyffert to the lineup, will meet the North Hills team here Sunday afternoon.

BERLIN, Aug. 7—Although washed out in the 5,000 meters, America speared first and third places in the 400-meter run today and took a commanding lead in the decathlon.

The 400 was won, as expected, by Archie Williams of the University of California, with Brown of England second and James Lu Valle, of Los Angeles third.

A 1-2-3 American finish in the 400 meters had been anticipated, but Robert H. Smallwood, regarded as a sure placer, suffered a recurrence of his appendicitis attack and went under the knife at a Berlin hospital a few hours before his race was run.

The 400 meter victory represented the sixth Olympic crown to be won by a negro. Jesse Owens won three of them and Cornelius Johnson and John Woodruff the other two.

Revenge Killings Mark Civil Warfare In Spain

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

NORTHERN SPANISH REBELS ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Burgos, Aug. 7—Organized killing at the front and systematic murder behind the lines, varied with mob excesses, continued throughout Spain today as this unhappy country neared the end of the third week of its civil war.

Four thousand dead so far is considered here to be a conservative estimate of the losses on both sides, which average at the lowest figure 200 daily.

Revenge Slayings

The ferocity of the struggle increases as each side seeks revenge for its growing list of casualties and by the time the white armies reach Madrid, their desire will be to end the war by complete extermination of the enemy.

Official announcements of executions reveal, as in all wars but particularly in this one among brothers, only a fraction of the actual shootings.

The white government announced it has condemned and shot rear Admiral Azarola at Cadiz for having assisted the reds in his capacity of naval governor.

We're fast returning to the days when clothes for swimming were the bunk, today a man's suit only means so much abbreviated trunks. And ladies suits are smaller too, that is in what goes into them, no more are skirts the thing to wear, no more the need for tucks and hems. For swimming now is sport thats all, and sport needs little clothes I wot, for I agree those olden garbs for swimming folks were not so hot. FIRST LADY TO BE SILENT

No Campaign Speaking Now

Letter Says Mrs. Roosevelt Is Making No Political Speeches In Campaign

RECALL CHALLENGE OF TWO YEARS AGO

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is "making no political speeches in this campaign," according to a letter on White House stationery made public today by Miss Dorothy Frooks, Peekskill, N. Y. lawyer who drew first page publicity two years ago when she challenged the "first Lady" to political debate.

Miss Frooks, one-time Democratic leader in Westchester county wants to run again for congressman-at-large—this time as a Republican.

She was defeated in 1934 by Mrs. Caroline O'Day, whom Mrs. Roosevelt supported. On that occasion Mrs. Natalie Couch ran as a Republican, Mrs. O'Day as a Democrat and Miss Frooks on the law preservation ticket.

White House Letter

The White House letter, signed by Mrs. Malvina Scheider, secretary to Mrs. Roosevelt, read:

"Mrs. Roosevelt received your message and she asked me to say that she never asked nor received any campaign privileges. She is making no political speeches in this campaign."

Miss Frook had cabled Mrs. Roosevelt from Paris on July 9 last asking:

"Are you again planning campaign for Mrs. O'Day for congress-I plan to run again. I think it only sporting you give me same official campaign privileges accorded you by virtue of your position. In exchange will call off all debate challenges."

Miss Frooks is now quite frankly after the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large, a matter which is to be decided at the forthcoming G. O. P. state convention at Albany in September.

Mrs. O'Day is coming up for re-election on the Democratic ticket and Miss Frooks wondered if Mrs. Roosevelt would again support her.

Miss Frooks, in an interview today said she "liked Mrs. Roosevelt personally," but she quickly added:

"I think Mrs. Roosevelt tries to do more than for which she is capable. I mean writing, appearing on the radio and making public appearances. I feel she is usurping the places of persons who could do these things."

GOV. LANDON WORKS ON CAMPAIGN SPEECH

President Roosevelt has done for the western farmer, but I know that he has done nothing for the Delaware county farmers in his own state of New York.

"I hope that God's hand will rule this election and that a man may be elected who can turn the wheels of industry. If there is any way that we can help, we are going to.

"I am only a farmer's wife. My ancestors have been in this country since 1633 and some of them have fought in every war. I want to see our constitution preserved. We want to make a living and have a home for ourselves and our three small children but we won't be able to do either long with taxes increasing as they have for the last three years.

In working upon his speeches, the governor hoped to complete them in time to get a brief resting spell with his family in Estes Park, Colo., before going east. He may be able to spend a week there prior to his first eastern speech, August 22, in his birthplace, West Middlesex, Pa.

military collaboration to offset the menace arising from a friendly country's civil war.

Britain Protests

Meanwhile, Great Britain lodged sterm protests with Spanish officials on the mainland and in Morocco, demanding combatant ships and airplanes be kept clear of the Gibraltar area.

If the situation does not improve, "suitable steps will be taken to deal with it," foreign office officials said.

Additional British warships are arriving daily at or near Gibraltar to take any action deemed necessary.

Hitler's proposal for an international force was made to Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador in Berlin, by foreign secretary Von Neurath. He further proposed that Britain and Germany should act bi-laterally if establishment of the four-power army and navy proves unfeasible.

Great Britain, it is understood will reject any international action which does not include Soviet Russia, Belgium and Portugal on the ground they are equally concerned in any non-interference agreement. All nations, however, have acquiesced to non-interference "in principle" at least, with exception of Portugal.

Considerable alarm was felt here over reports from Madrid that there is danger of anarchists overthrowing the existing Spanish government. There was tension also over Germany's reported threat to land troops in reprisal for the killing of four Germans by communists near Barcelona.

Apart from receiving A. F. of L. Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, about to give up his senatorial campaign chairmanship to Senator Joseph F. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, because he personally is up for re-election, sounded the war drums after conferring wtih Mr. Roosevelt, as did Representative Pat Drewry, of Virginia, chairman of the congressional committee.

Lewis indirectly took a poke at the third party candidacy of Representative William Lemke, North Dakota non-partisan who is backed by the Coughlin-Townsend-Smith forces, by saying:

"There is a very large element in America quite prepared to join in any undertaking to shatter our stable form of government."

Steve Malovich, a road worker, who witnessed the crash, told police:

"The truck was running fast. It seemed to be wobbling or swaying. It did not skid. The automobile seemed to be making a run for the hill, and then it seemed to slow up. The truck turned over and fell right on top of the sedan. The helper crawled out and helped the girl out. Then the whole wreck seemed to burst into flames. I saw 'Toots' Mason (another road worker) trying to get the boy out. HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Costs of the special session will aggregate $486,868.54, it was learned today in the wake of sine die adjournment.

The principal item of the session expenses, paying legislators' salaries and officials other than per diem employes, will total $366,368.54, it was estimated. This total includes all expenses except those of printing, per diem employes and making provision for contingencies.

Printing costs of the session, officials said, will aggregate $100,000, while contingencies and per diem employes will take another $20,500.

Deaths of the Day

Bert Davis Funeral

Funeral services for Albert W. Davis, of the Leslie hotel, were conducted Thursday at 2:30 o'clock in the Burke funeral home with Rev. Norris A. White, D. D., First Methodist Episcopal minister, in charge. A crowd of friends attended and there were many flowers.

Pallbearers were David Nelson, Charles DeFonso, Walter DeArment, W. M. Hess, Charles Shepp and William Williams. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Margaret A. Bailey Funeral

Funeral rites were conducted for Mrs. Margaret A. Bailey, wife of Albert Bailey, at the Fisher apartments, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Ben Watkins, of the City Mission, was in charge and interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

The pallbearers were James Burke, Joseph Kerrigan, Lawrence Montgomery, William Davis, Phillip P. Reese and William Bevan.

Mrs. Melville Jordan

Mrs. Mary Amanda Jordan, aged 47 years, wife of Melville Jordan, died at the residence, 418 Butz avenue, Thursday at 7:15 p. m., after a long illness.

Mrs. Jordan was born on August 18, 1888, at Volant, daughter of Calvin and Fannie Minnick McConnell. She passed all her life in this county and New Castle was her home for the past fifteen years. She was a member of Rich Hill Presbyterian church.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McConnell, of East Brook, her husband, Melville Jordan, to whom she had been married for 22 years; one son, Earl Jordan, at home; six sisters, Mrs. Ruth E. Kissick, of Ellwood City; Mrs. Anna C. Edie, of Volant; Mrs. Helen Moose and Mrs. Martha Baker of New Wilmington; Mrs. Margaret Pettit, of East Brook, and Mrs. Emily Stunkard, of New Castle, and three brothers, Herman McConnell, of Ellwood City; Elgin and Charles McConnell, of New Castle. Her daughter, Hazel Jordan, died 18 years ago.

Short services will be conducted at the home on Saturday preceding services at 2:30 p. m. in the Rich Hill Presbyterian church, with Rev. D. King Kerr, the pastor, in charge. Interment will be made in Rich Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Reynolds.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anne Reynolds, aged 78, widow of John C. Reynolds, died at her home, 760 Lathrop St., at 2:10 p. m. Thursday. She had been confined to bed since breaking her hip four weeks ago.

Born at Wheeling, West Va., on January 12, 1858 she was the daughter of George and Elizabeth Himarch Crumbacher. She was brought to this vicinity when a girl and passed most of her lifetime here.

Surviving are three sons, Robert, John and Merritt, and two daughters, Mrs. Beryl Rowland and Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, all residing in New Castle. She also leaves fourteen grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. J. Kindleberger and Mrs. Eliza Madden, and one brother, George Crumbacker. The sisters and brother live at Wheeling.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the residence, with Rev. Fred Smith, of the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Janet Grundy Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Janet Grundy were conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of her son, James Grundy, near Leesburg, with Rev. William A. Lloyd, Leesburg Presbyterian pastor in charge, assisted by Rev. Marquand, of Grove City.

The home was filled to overflowing with relatives and friends. The many beautiful floral tributes were additional expressions of the high esteem in which she was held in the community.

A favorite hymn, "Abide With Me," was read during the service and three beautiful numbers, "Under His Wing," "Zion's Hill," and "Good Night and Good Morning," were sung by Mrs. John Wink and Mrs. Avery Rigby, of New Castle.

Eight grandchildren acted as flower bearers. Five sons, Daniel, James, Clyde, Robert and Francis Grundy, and a son-in-law, Samuel Kaufman, were pallbearers. Interment was made in Leesburg cemetery.

Says Al Smith To Speak For Landon

SMITH'S

LEGISLATORS END SPECIAL SESSION AFTER LONG STRIFE

tribute was paid Reps. Morton Witkin, Philadelphia, Republican floor leader, and John M. Flynn, Republican, Elk, veteran of 34 years legislative service. Both retired with adjournment of the session.

Compromise moves launched with new vigor during the final day of the session succeeded in effecting an agreement on everything but the unemployment compensation bill, on which a conference committee labored fruitlessly. Governor Earle early today issued a statement in which he accused the Republican senate majority of killing the bill, which would have brought federal benefits of $22,000,000 to the state.

Charges Political Purposes

Senator James J. Coyne (R), Allegheny, who headed the seante insurance committee and served on the conference group, immediately struck back at the governor, charging the bill was killed by the Democratic administration "for purely political purposes" when compromise moves were "scorned."

The legislature ended its 14 weeks of turmoil with a few scattered "hunger marchers," who have occupied the senate chamber since July 20, hurling jibes and taunts at the legislators.

Presence of the unemployed delegations—even at the conclusion of the sessions—served as a warning to state leaders that funds must be available for relief purposes before next Monday, when balances of the state emergency relief administration will again be exhausted unless immediate steps are taken.

Administration leaders were to confer on this problem later today.

Delays that held the legislature in session for more than 17 hours after the slated adjournment at noon yesterday, were caused principally by dickering over amendments to the general relief appropriation bill and the threatened impeachment proceedings against Judge Benjamin C. Atlee, of Lancaster county.

To Cut Administration Costs

An amendment, limiting costs of relief administration to eight per cent, was stricken out of the appropriation bill by a conference committee which agreed to set administrative costs at 12 per cent for September, and to cut that figure one per cent a month through next January, when it would be reduced to the eight per cent suggested.

The Atlee case was settled when the house voted to censure, but not to impeach, the Lancaster jurist who was accused of making unbecoming remarks in sentencing a negro prisoner. Bitter debate over the issue featured the closing debate in the house.

One of the most controversial subjects of the session, flood control legislation, ended up with a $200,-000 appropriation, but with legislation enabling the state to participate in the federal flood control program.

Approval of the mothers' assistance measure, with retention of Democratic clauses giving appointive power of trustees to the governor, was a victory for the administration. As a result of the bill's passage, a waiting list of approximately 27,000 widowed mothers and children will be aided in the program.

There is no public control of great utilities. There is only a choice between control by a few capitalists or a few politicians.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL WEDS AT BROOKLYN

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schmoock, will take up their residence at Lansdale, Pa., following a week's stay in New Castle after their wedding which took place Saturday, August 1.

The bride was the former Emma Pearl Peterman, Brooklyn, N. Y. and formerly of New Castle and the groom is a resident of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. A. Barton at Brooklyn, N. Y. who officiated with the ring service.

For her wedding, Mrs. Schmoock wore a white crepe creation with matching accessories and her matron of honor, Mrs. Clara MacMullen, of Philadelphia, wore white organdy with accessories to match. Norman MacMullan served the groom as best man.

Following the exchange of vows, the couple and attendants were honored at a buffet luncheon served at the home of the groom's parents in Philadelphia. Upon their return to the bride's home, a wedding dinner was served in their honor, the traditional wedding cake gracing the center of the table, and other adornments in keeping with the occasion completed the arrangement.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Peterman, of Harrisburg and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Joerg, of Pittsburgh.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Peterman, of the Wilmington road of this vicinity, graduated from New Castle high school in the year of '30. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmoock, of Philadelphia. He is a graduate of the Krempe School of Germany and is employed with Fischer's Transfer Inc., at Doylestown, Pa.

B. N. Y. Club

Members of the B. N. Y. club met at the home of Catherine Blake this week for an evening of games which was concluded by the serving of light refreshments. On August 19, the girls will spend another informal evening in the home of Dorothy Krueger, Smithfield St.

EVELYN MORRISON IS HONORED AT SHOWER

Thursday evening the Misses Evelyn Zimmerly of 130 Park avenue and Helen Keder, 1613 East Washington street, entertained jointly at a lovely party in the home of the latter, honoring Miss Evelyn Morrison, bride-elect of early September.

The occasion took the form of a miscellaneous shower, and at one instance when the guest of honor entered the living room during the program of festivities, she found a stack of attractive packages awaiting her attention. Upon opening each, a collection of beautiful gifts was disclosed. Her engagement was recently announced to Louis Houk of this city.

Contests of various kinds interested the assemblage during the earlier hours, with prizes falling to Mrs. Wilbur McKibben and Leona Nolan in 500; Helen Houk and Becky Carson for bridge; Rugh Dambaugh and Mrs. Donald Johnston for bingo.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, the small tables being prettily re-arranged in appointments of pink and green. Bouquets of garden flowers decorated the rooms throughout.

BOOHER-EAGAN BETROTHAL TOLD

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Booher, of the Old Pittsburgh road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Edyce, to Gomer J. Eagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Eagan, of 458 Croton avenue.

A wedding in the near future will terminate the betrothal.

Komisya Sokolic

Members of Komisya Sokolic will hold their regular business meeting on Monday, August 10, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served by the following hostesses: Misses F. Golis, S. Kolodjieski, H. Noga and J. Kresorvaty.

MOONLIGHT 500 CLUB HAS FAMILY PICNIC

Ladened with good things to eat, all the delicacies of the season with steaming hot casseroles of substantials, long tables in the grove at Cascade park Thursday evening presented a tempting sight for Moonlight 500 members who enjoyed a family picnic. Summer flowers added to the attraction.

Covers were placed for 25 guests, including husbands and children of the members with three out of town guests, Mrs. Minnie C. Leathers of Beaver, Mrs. Winnie Fassett and daughter Josephine of Elders Ridge, Pa. Evening hours following dinner were spent informally.

On August 20 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Leathers on Croton avenue, when a birthday party for the hostess will feature.

MISS LEOTA HILL HONORED BY FRIENDS

Miss Leota Hill, who is leaving Jameson Memorial hospital to accept a position at Gary, Ind., was honored by a group of former coworkers Thursday evening at a lovely party which took place in a downtown tavern. Mrs. Wayne C. Porter presided as hostess over the affair, which was in the form of a 6:30 o'clock dinner and shower.

The tables were gay with yellow appointments where the delicious menu was served, and afterwards, the guest of honor was tendered a personal shower in behalf of her associates, conveying good wishes.

Motoring to the home of Mrs. Porter on Sheridan avenue, the guests spent the evening in reminiscing. Other avenues were also provided, filling in the balance of the social period. The yellow color theme was further carried out at the hostess' home, and bouquets of flowers lent additional color to the setting.

FORMER TERRACE PUPILS' PICNIC

Some half hundred guests, comprising former pupils in Grades 6 and 6½ at Terrace avenue school in the class of 1900, keenly enjoyed a good picnic supper and the opportunity afforded to renew old friendships, when the annual reunion was held Thursday evening, at Cascade Park.

At long tables brightened with summer flowers, a tasty menu was served at 6:30, the many guests sharing the pleasures including out of town people from Struthers, Youngstown, Pittsburgh, West Virginia and even New Orleans, Sam Rabinovitz, a well known former resident, being among them.

The committee serving consisted of Jess H. Gibson, Mrs. William Johns, Mrs Bert Smith, Mrs. Andrew Dietterle and Mrs. I. W. Tate.

It was decided to hold a similar affair next year at the same place, on the first Thursday of August.

Delightful Breakfast

A delightful breakfast was enjoyed at Cascade Park Thursday morning, when Mrs. Harry Connors was hostess in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Deetz, of Cumberland, Md.

Covers were laid for ten guests who spent the balance of the morning rambling about the park.

GARDEN CLUB AT URMSON RESIDENCE

Anticipating the winter when food for birds will no doubt be scarce, Lawrence County Garden Club members at their August meeting Thursday, in the home of Mrs. Allan W. Urmson Lane, decided to ask the general public to save cantaloupe and other melon seeds this summer and dry them for winter use.

Cardinals particularly, like the melon seeds and with a little foresight on the part of their friends, they will be well cared for when the cold weather arrives.

The club also appointed a committee to have an exhibit at the East Side Flower show which will be held on Friday, August 28, in Epworth M. E. church.

The program after the business was concluded was intensely interesting, the members feeling they had a most worthwhile afternoon. Mrs. B. K. Thacker gave a talk on "Virburnums," and to illustrate it, she gave each member of the club a list of characteristics, blooms and fruit.

The discussion was most complete and detailed, affording Mrs. Thacker's listeners with one of the best talks ever heard by the club.

Mrs. C. A. Ingals had "Ants" for her subject and she revealed some most interesting facts concerning their life, work, habits and the part they play in nature's work. A brief general discussion on fertilizers for the garden was of further instruction and interest.

A beautiful exhibit of annuals in bouquets for dressing tables was appreciated as many unusual and gay combinations were attractive.

Preceding the afternoon's program, the women had their customary buffet luncheon which was tasty and served from a prettily arranged table. Another pleasure was a tour of Mrs. Urmson's flower gardens which form a distinctive part of her beautiful home at Maitland Lane.

The next meeting is scheduled for the first Thursday in September, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Burckart, Clenmore boulevard.

JOLLY TWELVE CLUB GUESTS FRIDAY EVE

Jolly Twelve club members were delightfully entertained Thursday evening by Mrs. Albert Perkins, Round street, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Baldwin on Adams street.

A short business period was conducted, followed by a period of cards with favors going to Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. H. B. McConnell at conclusion of play. Afterwards, the guests were served a dainty lunch by the hostess, the small table being prettily re-appointed for this feature. She was assisted by Mrs. Baldwin with the menu.

Their next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. D. T. Andrews, Round street, on Thursday, August 20.

Ritz Club

Cards formed the main diversion for members of the Ritz club who gathered Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Curtis Guckert on Center street. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Bongivengo and Mrs. Albert De Palmo. Refreshments were a later consideration.

In two weeks the group will be feted by Mrs. Anthony Panella, of Bank street.

JEANETTE HUGHES WEDS GRANT LUTZ

Of interest locally is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hughes, Knox avenue, of the marriage of their daughter Jeanette, to Grant Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lutz, Maryland avenue, both of this city. The ceremony took place Monday evening, August 3, at Wellsburg, W. Va., at 7 o'clock in the Presbyterian parsonage. The Rev. T. M. Billingsly, pastor, officiated with the ring service.

The bride was attractive in a gown of dusky blue crepe, toe length, and with it she wore matching accessories. Her only attendant, Miss Ethel Wagner, also of New Castle, was attired in a gown of shell pink crepe, patterned similar to the bride's and her accessories were of a matching shade.

Albert Sankey, of this city, and a cousin of the groom, served as best man.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Lutz will make their residence at 119 East Lincoln avenue. He is associated with Lang's Market here.

QUAINT COTTAGE IS SCENE OF GATHERING

The quaint cottage of Mrs. W. A. Hoyland situated on the Slippery Rock creek, was the scene of an enjoyable afternoon party Thursday, for members of the LeDeJeuner club, who assembled as her luncheon guests.

Luncheon was served at 1:30 o'clock at a large table arranged on the screened-in-veranda, with a bouquet of yellow and white calendulas adorning the center. Bridge filled in the time that ensued, Mrs. Milton Reiber and Mrs. T. A. Carson receiving the prizes, for winning distinction. The traveling award went to Mrs. J. E. Melvin.

Throughout the afternoon, several of the group enjoyed short periods of swimming and other out door sports.

On Wednesday August 19, at 7 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, of East Washington street, will entertain the women and their husbands at an evening party.

DETROIT GUEST IS HONORED AT DINNER

Miss Elizabeth Heller of Boyles avenue was a charming hostess to a group of friends at a prominent tea room Wednesday evening, entertaining at a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Robert Johnson of Detroit, Mich., who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Johnson, Smithfield street.

Dainty appointments in blue and yellow hues were used in the table decorations, where dinner was served at 7 o'clock. Following, attention was given to contests in bridge and bingo, prizes for distinction falling to Sara Markel and Jennie Johnson.

The guest of honor was presented with a lovely gift from the hostess, as a memento of the occasion.

HAM FRY ENJOYED BY PRI-DU-NURSES CLUB

Delightfully informal was the ham fry event held Thursday evening in the grove of Cascade park by members of the Pri-Du-Nurses club of the New Castle hospital.

A good number entered into festivities and at 9 o'clock the appetizing menu was served at sheltered tables. The committee in charge composed Frances Patton and Catherine Cunningham. A business discussion followed, at which time plans were made for a bingo party to take place soon. Misses Florence Micco and Mary Louise Chip were appointed to complete arrangements.

F. S. C. CLUB HOLDS OUTING AT CASCADE

Associates of the F. S. C. club, journeyed to Cascade Park Thursday evening, where they enjoyed an appetizing dinner, served in the open at six o'clock. The sheltered tables were nicely appointed for the feast, covers marking for two special guests in addition to the usual club number. They were—Florence Cummings of Toronto, O., and Betty Waters of Niles, Ohio.

An informal period ensued. The committee in charge included Nettie Holliday, Catherine Rogers and Mrs. J. P. McDevitt.

Annual Patton Reunion.

The annual Patton family reunion took place Thursday in Cascade park and proved to be very pleasant for everyone. Dinner was served at noon, with 29 present.

From out-of-town were the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Braham of New Wilmington, Miss Bertha Lusher of Ellwood City, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Humphrey and son Sammy of Slippery Rock, Rev. T. L. Patton and son Thomas of West Middlesex, Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of Grove City, Mrs. Mary West and son Phillip of Houtzdale, Pa., and Mrs. Ella Patton Scott of McKees Rocks.

Judge W. Walter Braham of this city gave an interesting talk concerning early settlers of this section. The Patton family was among these pioneers. New officers were chosen as follows: president, S. Hoyt Shaw; vice president, Loy Patton; secretary, Elma Patton, and treasurer, Charles Patton.

Amity Club

Mrs. William Mooney, Butler road, recently entertained members of the Amity club. Cards, music and chat were the pastimes. Prize was awarded to Miss Ida Casacchia.

At an appointed time the hostess served appetizing refreshments. Mrs. Sam Mooney was a special guest.

On Tuesday evening Miss Yolanda Carney, Gilmore street, will receive the club.

Shriver Reunion August 9.

The annual Shriver reunion will be held at Cascade park Sunday, August 9, it is announced. Invitations were not issued this year as has been the custom; however, families, friends and relatives are invited to participate on this occasion.

Dinner will be served between 12 and 1 o'clock in the grove at shelter No. 5, and will be an all day affair.

WHYLE-AWAY CLUB THURSDAY EVENTS

Thursday was an outstanding day of social activities for members of the Whyle-Away Bridge club as they launched the afternoon with a prettily appointed dessert-bridge at a prominent tavern on the Harlansburg road, with Mrs. William Jones presiding as hostess. Pink and white tones predominated in the appointments throughout, and clusters of garden flowers centered the tables.

Cards filled in the remaining hours with Mrs. J. R. Oldfield and Mrs. G. S. Jenkins receiving honor score prizes. Mrs. J. J. Hennicheck, an out-of-town guest from Butler, Pa., won the galloping trophy.

In topping off the day the group was further entertained when they remained for a most delicious chicken dinner at 6 o'clock.

Plans were made for their next meeting on Thursday, August 20, to be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph B. Leyde, corner of Highland and Winter avenues.

See Marble Exhibit

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Strayer of New Castle were among hundreds of visitors recently to the educational exhibit dealing with marble at Proctor, Vermont, which has become the mecca of tourists in the Green Mountain state.

TRAGIC OBJECT LESSON

EDNA FERBER, American author vacationing at St. Jean de Luz on the French coast, ten minutes' walk from Spanish civil war, writes vividly of the harrowing scenes enacted daily before her eyes. Refugees of many nationalities land there, brought from peril to safety, some wounded, some terrified. They tell the story of the bloody conflict in Spain.

Miss Ferber does not dwell unduly on the immediate horrors. She tells of the possibilities ahead, the perils to France and the rest of Europe in the situation regardless of which way victory goes. She tells of a whole civilian population armed, though not well organized. And then she says:

"I have one wish. Though I may be accused of chauvinism or jingoism, I have one wish. I wish that every American who is now working against the good of the American government by word or deed might be sentenced to serve six months at hard play in any one of the capitals of Europe today."

America's freedom from the animosities and fears of Europe, its democracy which may blunder but which functions without civil war, its opportunity to solve social and economic problems by education and legislation—these are priceless treasures too much taken for granted. Let us cherish them and strengthen them while there is time.

HORRIBLE EXAMPLES

One of the alleged marks of civic progress is that after a destructive auto accident the evidences of the wreck are promptly cleared away and citizens are apt to point with pride to a perfect restoration of the highway.

As a matter of fact the wisdom of such a proceeding may be questioned. It might lead to more careful motoring if the reminders of reckless driving were allowed to stand for a season as a warning to drivers who have little regard for their fellow travelers on the highway.

A late publication devoted to safety on the road has well said that only education can arouse the general public to effect a remedy for present-day conditions. By compiling illuminating data, education can rouse a country to patriotic, national action.

No doubt penalties for responsibility in serious accidents should be imposed by the courts, but except in the case of mental "dumbbells," the spectacle of the results from negligent driving cannot fail to leave a beneficial impression on all who pass by the way.

AN ENTERING WEDGE

Federal help for public schools on a basis of per capita attendance is proposed by Dr. Paul R. Mort, director of the Advanced School of Education at Teachers' College, Columbia, as the conclusion of a survey financed by the WPA. He would have $300,000,000 appropriated annually as a beginning. It would take the form of allocating $6 per pupil to all the states and up to $15 per pupil in the poorer states. Once the principle were established, there is no telling how far it would be extended. Already there is suggestion the $300,000,000 could ultimately be stepped up to $1,400,000,000 a year.

It is, of course, unfortunate that children in every section do not have equal opportunities for education in the public schools. For this condition, however, there are other things to blame than the relative impoverishment of some of the states.

For all of the suggested curricula, there is no such thing as a national standard of grade school education. Exactly that is what a group of ambitious educators would try to establish and maintain were the federal government to begin the subsidizing of public school education. We should have a department of education, which is the dream of some of the good folk at Columbia, and a control over what was taught through the ability to withhold funds if edicts from Washington were not carried out. The history of education, with its passing fads and follies as transient as in millinery or popular songs, does not encourage too great faith in the wisdom of such potential overlords of education.

Deplorable as it is that some 500,000 classrooms are reported below standard and that much of the teaching is poor, there is no justification for the federal government to step in and make that the pretext for an effort to control public school education through heavy taxes on sections that tax themselves adequately for school purposes.

We have free speech and a free press. Our schools, too, should be free from domination by a central government. The states are forty-eight distinct laboratories in which educational ideas are developed, tried, retained or abandoned, any one a possible example to the rest. That is the American system and it ought to be maintained.

LOVE OF HOME

Despite the trials and hardships which it entailed, the late depression contributed in several ways to the restoration of sanity and common sense in the American social outlook. If it has done nothing else, it has performed the highly valuable service of making the American people more home-conscious than ever.

In more presperous times people have too many outside interests to be properly mindful of domestic comforts and pleasures—they prefer to be "on the go," seeing things and doing things, spending time and money in the pursuit of a noisy, extravagant, hysterical shadow of happiness. Then comes an economic slump and under the compulsion of its dictation men and women rediscover the joys of their own firesides and the luxury of each other's company. Perhaps there has never been a period when the multitudes were more deeply concerned about homes.

And even if the vast enterprises planned and underway by the Government had never been launched there would never have been a great development of home-consciousness. A depression is a threat to the family, and a natural reaction to any such peril is an intensification of resistance in the mind and in the heart. One of the durable results of the troubles and trials of humanity during the years of stress and struggle was the new evaluation of home in all that the word means—a renaissance of the home-making and the home-maintaining spirit which once was an outstanding characteristic of American civilization.

With the approach of more normal economic conditions there has been a noticeable lapse into the pre-depression attitude toward the home. This summer has seen the renewed popularity of outside interests, people apparently having the money to spend away from home.

But the renaissance brought about by the depression should not be permitted to dit cut. We would do well to retain as much of its influence as possible.

A dash of nutmeg, says a household hint, will help spinach. But, is it fair to the nutmeg?

All Getting Ready.
Gas Masks For Everybody.
Germany's New Air Base.
Dictators Consult Nobody.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

EUROPEAN nations, feverishly building airplanes for attack, also prepare protection against enemy planes.

In England about forty million people locked up in great cities and small crowded islands will be provided every one, at public expense with masks to keep out poison gas, to be worn while they hurry to the nearest gas-proof refuge.

WHETHER this free distribution of British gas masks will apply to the independent south of Ireland is not stated. The British government, always careful to refer to the King as King of NORTHERN Ireland, may trust De Valera to take care of his own.

IN GERMANY, Italy, to a less degree in France and in far-off Japan, the public has long been trained to listen for the bombardment alarm and seek instantly the nearest refuge.

The most modern gas proof refuges are constructed two stories up in the air—heavier-than-air poison gases seek the lower levels and a refuge below ground might be more dangerous than the open air.

GERMANY, always thorough, blandly ignoring the foolishly constructed, war-provoking Versailles Treaty, is refortifying the island of Heligoland, constructing there, according to British authorities, what will be the most powerful military fortifications and airbase in Europe.

Heligoland is only four hundred miles from the British coast. Bombing planes located there would not only control the Baltic, but menace all shipping engaged in supplying Britain with food and raw materials.

IN ADDITION to refortifying Heligoland on a greater scale than ever, the Germans are fortifying the island of Sylt, farther to the northeast, just south of the Danish

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I . . . I . . . I

I'd rather ride than walk, any day....You can take a "nice long hike" if you wish. I'll sit under a tree.

I've never yet awakened from sound sleep, convinced that there's a burglar in the house....Once or twice, however, coming home to an empty house I have looked under the bed...What burglar would be so silly as to hide under a bed?

I like bargains, but I rarely get any....Other people, however, do.

To my shame I confess that I used to sign my name "E. Marshall Maslin"....But how did that way of writing one's name acquire a high-hat implication?

I made a very handsome kite for some children...It had a big green star on it and the kids all said it was very swell. But it wouldn't go up in the air, and my stock fell.

Once upon a time I went to dancing school...But I didn't learn to dance.

I suspect that I deplore in others the faults that are my own...I say, "Don't worry." I am a worrier... I say "Don't lose your temper." I lose mine....I say, "Keep away from the little deaths." I die little ones daily.

And also I praise the good qualities in others that I fondly hope are mine. (But we needn't go into that.)

I know that day dreaming is a mistake, but it is also pleasant.

A chipmunk came forward, unafraid, and took a crust of bread from my hand....I was secretly proud of my ability to inspire confidence in a wild animal...When I remarked on it, someone who knew chipmunks said it happened to be a particularly hungry or impudent chipmunk...Squelch!

What Noted People Say

DALLAS, Tex.—Vice President Garner observes his wife in the audience while making a speech:

"When I see her I'm always afraid to talk."

HOLLYWOOD — Actor Robert Taylor meets Greta Garbo for the first time in a studio:

"I was so nervous when she first came in, but her matter-of-fact manner made me feel right at home."

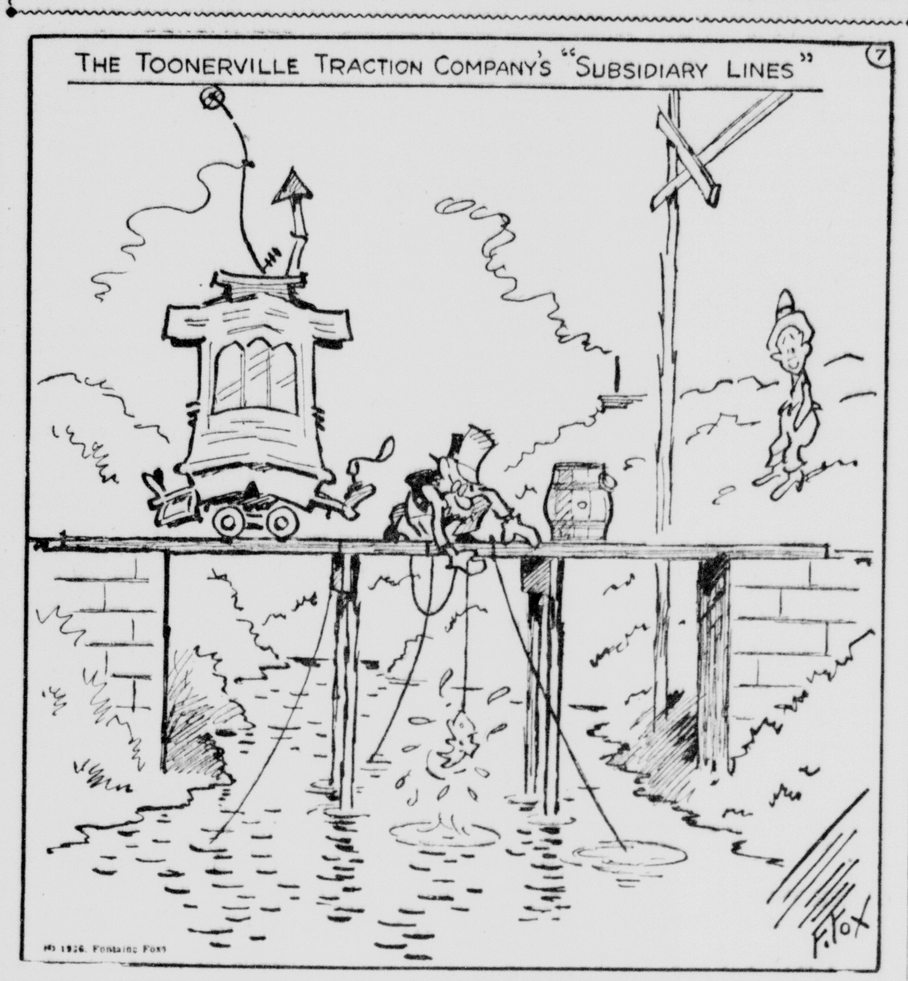

NEW YORK—Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, refuses to predict the winner of the American League pennant:

"I'll wait until after the boys win, then I'll boast like hell that I told you so all the time."

LOS ANGELES—Dance Director Dave Gould advises chorus girls to eat lots of meat and potatoes:

"The flat chested, angular chorine has definitely gone out of date. There'll always be the tall, stately, slim type of show girl, but hereafter dancers are going to look well-fed and, above all, healthy."

Sun sets tonight 7:07. Sun rises tomorrow 5:04.

Who would have thought thirty years ago that sidewalks would be made narrower and vehicle lanes made wider. It may be because fewer people are walking and walking straighter.

A lot of fellows who forget what Lincoln and Washington said remember the conversation between the governors of the Carolinas.

We noticed a sign in a store window reading "Smoking pipes for women." The owner of the store said he had sold quite a few of them. Well, women smoked pipes many years ago and no one thought anything about it. There were only a few ladies who smoked them.

SECOND THOUGHT

Before I say a man is good—
As good as he can be—
I'm going to hold off a bit,
For people change, you see.
And men who years ago were called
The greatest in the land,
Are found in enterprises which
It's hard to understand.

Before I say a man is bad
And lost to instincts good,
I'll wait awhile. Perhaps he too,
Has been misunderstood.
If good men now and then go wrong,
It's reasonable, quite,
To figure that it's possible
For bad ones to go right.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

The young man who had inherited money rang the bell on the door of the "School of Deportments." He had decided to learn how to carry himself in society. A bowing Frenchman begged him to enter.

"You give lessons in deportment, don't you?" inquired the young man.

The best m'sieur," gushed the proprietor. "My system it ees perfect. Two weeks ago a young man like you, m'sieur, he take only three of my lessons in deportment, and—yesterday, he was deported.

A COUPLE O' CHUCKLES

We hear so many stories about absent-minded professors that we suspect, sometimes, they are made up just to poke fun at the professorial industry lest its members take themselves too seriously and try to run the country with brains instead of hot air for motive power. But this incident can be vouched for by some of the members of the Zoology class in one of the prominent Eastern colleges where the professor in question holds down the chair of Science. The class was to meet in the laboratory after the lecture, to witness a demonstration of blood circulation which can be clearly seen through a microscope in the web of a frog's foot. The lecture over, the class adjourned to the laboratory where the microscope was set into place on the table, around which the students expectantly gathered. The professor, with a benign smile, dug his hand down deep into his pocket and drew out a bulky package which he slowly unwrapped. His smile waned, a pallor spread over his face and a puzzled look came into his eyes as he gazed upon the sandwiches that were in the package. Those nearest to him insist that they heard him murmur, "Im sure I ate my lunch at noon."

A lot of folks don't know anything about art, but when they see a historic subject done by a French artist they just naturally rave about it.

Anything that tries to run in competition with that Landon meeting at West Middlesex will find itself a total loss when the day is done. That gathering is going to be the biggest ever known in this end of the state. Having the bar concessions will also be a big thing. After the big celebration there some time ago it took the breweries of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio three weeks to catch up with their trade.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A western congressman in Washington on legal business, talking over legal fees, told a story of a lawyer and client in a damage action.

"Why," the injured client said to his attorney, "you are taking four-fifths of my damages."

"I furnish the skill, the eloquence and the necessary legal learning for your case," the lawyer replied.

"Yes, answered the client," "but I furnish the case itself."

"Bosh!" said the lawyer. "Anybody could fall down a coal hole."

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I never smoke because I think it is a disgusting habit. Nevertheless, I am frequently in the company of both men and women who do. Whenever I am offered a cigarette, I say: I don't smoke. Can you suggest a more polite method of refusal? Or do you think my way is all right? SALLY

Answer—We must endure many things of which we disapprove. And we must either remove all chips from our shoulders or become hermits. Non-smokers must choose between these alternatives—avoid the society of those who indulge or be pleasantly tolerant with those whose views are broader than their own.

You are privileged to refuse offered cigarettes, but do it graciously, that you may not give the impression of disapproval.

Say: No thank you or I don't care for one just now. Do not act shocked or disapproving. Appear as if you think nothing of it. Intolerant people are never popular.

If you politely refuse, I see no reason why anyone should be offended.

Dear Miss Markel—I am going to send out invitations to an informal dinner. Should they be addressed to both the husband and wife? HOSTESS.

Answer—An informal invitation is usually addressed to the wife, the husband being mentioned in the body of the letter. Formal invitations are addressed to both.

Half-Truths Anger Voters.
Remarks Of Some Are Quoted.
Doubt Prosperity Is Here.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

PEOPLE ARE asking this column what can be done to the many half-truths being uttered during this present campaign.

"Those half-truths may cause the people to become emotionally unsound and follow paths to their destruction," one persons says.

That may be true.

* * *

A FEW REMARKS

We have been running through a few of the remarks of spellbinders, and others who can influence public opinion.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin remarks:

"After Roosevelt what? It will not be the National Union for Social Justice. We have never been a political party. But we are going to be the whip, the courage. We are going to be the very dynamite that blows these politicians and 'banker-patriots' out of the American life."

That bears a striking resemblance to what Mussolini and Hitler said when they were fighting for power.

Besides, after Roosevelt there would be Landon, not Lemke.

But the radio priest says also:

"If Herbert Hoover had been re-elected president and if Gov. Alf Landon should take up where Hoover left off, there would be nothing left for America but bloody revolution."

At the same time, Thomas C. O'Brien, of Boston, vice presidential candidate on the Union party, proclaims that the wealth of the United States is concentrated in the hands of 140,000 individuals who handpick the candidates of the two major parties for 40,000,000 voters.

President Roosevelt may be interested to learn that the "140,000 individuals" who have all the wealth are supporting him, as well as Gov. Alf Landon. After looking at their barrage of attacks on him, the president has been of a different opinion.

Incidentally, several readers ask, what program except a form of monetary inflation, do the Union party-Coughlinites offer? That group brands many of the social reforms as 'communistic" and is vague on matters of labor, child welfare, war, etc., thus its aim seems to be power for a individual or two. That may be the road to dictatorship. That was the course in Italy and in Germany.

* * *

QUESTIONS

Then, again, the manner in which questions in polls of public opinion are asked is criticized by some readers.

"Are we heading for a dictatorship?" is a question that has been put, with the implied assumption that it is President Roosevelt who is feared.

But many people, when they answer that with, yes, they do fear a dictatorship, mean that forces antagonistic to the people may thwart President Roosevelt and his administration.

Such is the view of many persons who have contacted this writer.

* * *

UNBELIEVING

Then there is the publicity man for a steel company who put his woes before this writer. The steel companies have been receiving unfavorable publicity.

"We give our men the right to organize through their own choice," he said. "They don't want outside organizers coming in. That's the truth."

* * *

SETTLED?

Then, when the Democrats say that prosperity has returned and all problems have been settled, many anxious voices among the still unemployed ask in alarm whether grownup men can be so foolish.

But these anxious folk find no answer from the Republicans, either, they say. In fact, the Republican speeches, they assert, have sounded antediluvian.

All of which gives a wide opening for the demagogues.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ANGER'S SOLITAIRE

Sometimes in melancholy mood
When petty plans have gone astray
I think of cutting things and rude
Which it would please me much to say.

Merely to drive away the gloom
'Neath which I fear I'm soon to sink
I summon fools into my room
And boldly tell them what I think.

In fancy all the blundering lot
I summon and with words that singe
I boldly tell thew what is what
And chuckle as I watch them cringe.

From bankers down to butcher's boy
I line them up against my wall
And take a most exquisite joy
In talking straight to one and all.

And though 'tis but pretense, I find
This is a very pleasant way
From time to time to ease my mind
Of thoughts I think, but never say.

Today's Yesterdays—Aug. 7, 1789—The War Department and the U. S. Lighthouse Service were established by congress. The War Department was given (and still has) control of protection of the seacoasts of the United States, but it has no authority over lighthouses. Nor has the Coast Guard. Vessels of the War Department, the Navy, Coast Guard, Public Health service, Postoffice Department, Department of Commerce, Lighthouse Service and New York or San Francisco police may have to be on duty at the same place at the same time, each with independent authority.

Aug. 7, 1821—Queen Caroline, 53, died in a rage induced by being refused admittance to Westminster Abbey during the coronation of her husband, George IV. George so thoroughly disliked his German consort that he offered her the equivalent of $250,000 a year to stay away from England. When she refused, he had her tried on the charge of committing adultery with a servant, one Bartolomo Bergami. He lost the case, but succeeded in barring her child from the royal succession, thus unknowingly paving the way for Victoria to become Britain's great ruler.

Aug. 7, 1876—Margaret Gertrude Zelle was born in Leewarden, Holland, the daughter of a Dutch woman and a Jewish-Dutch father. She married a Scotsman, Campbell McLeod, holding a commission in the Dutch Colonial Army; eventually assumed a Hindu identity calling herself Mata Hari, and became the best known woman spy in the World War.

However, her achievements as a spy are as much the imaginative exaggeration of fictioneers as her "ravishing beauty." When she first went to Paris, she was so unattractive that artists wouldn't hire her as a model. Before she even left Berlin for Paris in August 1914, French agents knew that she was coming as a spy and she was never out of their surveillance. This made her work more or less hampering.

Aug. 7, 188[illegible]—Frank Samuelson and George Harbo, arrived in Le-Harve, France, in a dory, after rowing across the Atlantic from New York in 65 days. But they failed to break the record set 15 years ago by Olsen and John Traynor, Norwegians, who rowed a 14-foot dory to Le Havre from Bath, Maine, in 62 days.

Aug. 7 Among State Histories: 1607—First European settlers arrived in Maine. 1854—First regularly organized political convention of delegates called Republicans met at Strong, Me. 1855—Bloody riots raged between Irish factions in St. Louis and Louisville....1919—Actors went on strike throughout the country to force producers to acknowledge their union, the Actor's Equity Association.

SHORT SERVICE

In early days of Vermont, when marriages were solemnized without getting a license, one bitter midnight, 29 degrees below zero a couple called the "Squire" to the window. Shivering, in his nightie, he asked:

"What in hell do you want?"

"We want to be married."

"Be married and be damned," and he slammed the window down.

That is probably the shortest wedding ceremony that coupled legal accuracy with the religious prayer.

Communists In France Plan To Give Spain Aid

Declare They Will Send Arms And Aid Despite Any Neutrality Agreement

GERMANY MAY ALSO TAKE SOME ACTION

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Announcement by French Communists that they would send arms and munitions to war-torn Spain despite any neutrality agreement, coupled with reports Germany is planning serious intervention in reprisal for the killing of four Germans in Spain brought renewed fears of grave international complications in the Spanish crisis today.

The blunt Communist decision was made known by Maurice Thorez, French Red leader, in a speech before 6,000 representatives of French Communist "cells" from all over the country.

At almost the same moment, Genevieve Tabouis, writing in the newspaper L'Oeuvre, declared official information concerning German intervention already has reached the British foreign office.

"It has been learned," the writer said, "that the German battleship Deutschland brought numerous munitions to the Spanish Rebels and aided in transportation of insurgent troops from Morocco to Spain.

"The British foreign office knows also that the German freighter Usaramo left Hamburg on July 31, carrying twenty-eight bombing planes as well as munitions, pilots, officers and aviation technicians."

The subject of German intervention was discussed in detail by Premier Blum and Foreign Minister Delbos at the Quai D'Orsay, with reports current either will have an important declaration to make to the chamber of deputies this afternoon.

EDENBURG

WEDDING

Reverend F. C. Lehman of New Castle, performed the wedding ceremony at his home on Friday, July 31, at 1:30, uniting in marriage Cora May Hoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoon, of Edenburg and Charles Robert Troutman of Edenburg. Mr. Troutman is helping to build the new road and viaduct at Edenburg. The young couple expect to reside at the home of the bride's parents for the present.

EDENBURG NOTES

Miss Elizabeth Krepps of Greenville, is visiting at the home of Oliver Dickson.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kuhin and family have returned home from a trip to the mountains.

Mrs. Julia Occhibon and daughter Delores of New Jersey, are visiting her father, Joe Natale.

Grace and Viola Montnearo, of Struthers, O., are spending a few days with their grandfather, Joe Natale.

Mrs. Gerald Kildoo and daughters Virginia and Nadine of the Mt. Jackson road are spending a few days at New Castle with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor and children, Donald and Marion, of West View, Pittsburgh, are spending a fews days with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wigton.

The social held at the Christian church on Wednesday evening by the Young Peoples Union, arranged by their leader, Mrs. Willis McBride, proved a success in every way. Despite the rainy weather, a large number attended and a nice sum of money was received.

AVOID WINTER IF YOU PRIZE YOUTH ADVISES MAN, 87

(International News Service)

LONDON.—Follow the sun if you want to keep young.

John Drayton Bellew, vigorous despite his 87 years and without a gray hair, gives this advice to seekers of perpetual youth.

"I've only seen 22 winters," he chuckled, "and the last one I saw was over sixty-five years ago. I am 87 years young and I feel grand. You see, it's not the years that make men grow old, it's the winters.

"My father did not see a winter for the last fifty years of his life. He died when he was ninety-three, and then he was killed in a train smash! But I'm going to reach a hundred and still be young when I get there.

"Since I have been travelling around I have not had an ache or an ill—that is in sixty-five years. The winters bring colds and that's what weakens stamina and makes you old."

A philosopher is one who finally achieves the wisdom to feel as detached and indifferent as the dumb always feel.

frontier. Furthermore the British government is informed that:

"In the islands of Borkum, Juist, Nordency, Langevoog, Spickeroog and Wangeroog, thousands of tons of concrete are being laid down both for fortifications and for airplane landing grounds.

"Visitors are debarred from coming anywhere near these northern coasts with the exception of a few pleasure resorts.

"Of all these islands, as well as along the coast of the mainland from Emden round to Bremerhaven, at the mouth of the Weser, there is extraordinary activity on the part of the German air force. The whole area resembles a gigantic pool covered with gnats, so large is the number of men at work."

WHILE constructing her "largest and most strongly defended military air and naval base in Europe," Germany is constructing "huge underground flying-boat hangars" that will protest fighting aircraft from enemy bombardments.

Ask your Congressman and Senators, if you know their names, whether they know of any adequate preparations against air attack in the United States. It will come some day.

ONE INNOCENT Englishman in the Commons asked whether Germany had consulted the British government before starting her warlike undertakings, which is "funnier" than anything in London Punch.

The dictators, Stalin, Mussolini, Hitler do not believe in "consulting" anybody. Consulting is a specialty of the United States government, which consults before building a new cruiser or even tilting up guns on its battleships to increase their range.

The innocent Englishman's question caused smiles in the House of Commons, but it was a natural question: Englishmen realize, with difficulty, that since the arrival of the airplane, Britannia no longer "rules the waves," those old-fashioned waves of water are no longer important.

Whoever rules the air waves will rule the world hereafter. If Uncle Sam doesn't make that discovery for himself, it will be unpleasantly forced upon him some day when air visitors from Asia or Europe come to enlighten him.

WHEN YOU read history and the biographies of those that lived long ago, you are inclined to feel that men have degenerated. Where is the Crillon, the Du Guesclin of today? Where is the equal of Michelangelo, working with great power when past eighty years of age, of Titian, who died with his genius at his height when the plague killed him at ninety?

Men no longer possess in youth the fighting power, or in old age the mental power, that they once had.

It may comfort them to know that other animals have also dwindled. Scientists of southern Idaho have dug up ancient cats that died before the ice age. One is half way between the ferocious sabre-tooth tiger and the modern cat. The other is a "true cat."

The human race, at least, has seen no drop as far as that from the sabre-tooth tiger to the house cat.

FLOWER SHOW AT EDINBURG SOON

The public will be treated to another flower show which will be sponsored by the Mahoning Valley Garden club on Friday, August 21.

The show will be held in the building back of the band stand in Edenburg and already the place is being pictured as another bower of beauty for they have mighty fine flowers out in the Mahoning valley.

Mrs. Charles McClelland is general chairman and committees have been appointed which will meet in her home in Edenburg next Monday evening to further arrangements.

As the chief topic of conversation at the annual picnic held on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson on the Edenburg road, much enthusiasm for the affair was evidenced.

There were 45 people present including the families and several special guests, Mrs. Helen Patterson, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Brewster, of Mt. Jackson; Mary McCune, Jane Offutt, David Wallace, Mrs. Fannie Solars. The several long tables were spread on the lawn and decorated prettily with a wealth of summer flowers.

On the committee were Mrs. W. A. Hoffmaster, Mrs. Charles Robinson and Mrs. Charles McCullough.

The club was invited to participate in the East Side flower show the latter part of August. For the next meeting dated September 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Matthews, on the Edenburg road, a corn and wiener roast will feature.

PUBLICITY SCHOOL PLANNED FOR FALL

Southwestern district, State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, has planned two inter-county press and publicity schools for the fall.

The first, on October 27, will center in Butler and will include Lawrence, Indiana and Armstrong counties. The second, to be held in Greensburg, Westmoreland county, will also be for clubs in Beaver, Fayette, Greene and Armstrong counties.

Mrs. Arthur W. Warner, of Media, state chairman of press and publicity, will conduct both schools.

This week, Mrs. Richard B. Perry, vice president of the southewestern district, conducted her usual open house for club women in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh. These informal days have become popular with clubwomen in this district who are free to drop in for information and advice concerning their work.

SURPRISE SHOWER HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Rose Lutton, of East Washington street, entertained at a party of charming appointments Thursday evening at her home honoring her niece, Beatrice Belknap, bride-elect, taking her by complete surprise.

The guests entered into a program of games and other features that claimed attention for several hours. At a suitable time, the hostess served a delicious lunch with her daughters, Margaret and Jean Lutton, and Mrs. Williard Belknap, mother of the honored one, assisting. Appointments were in keeping with the occasion.

The evening was climaxed when Miss Belknap was presented with an array of beautiful gifts in behalf of those assembled.

A. A. Club Entertained.

Mrs. Ada Riley of Pennsylvania avenue was a pleasing hostess to members of the A. A. club Thursday evening, their meeting being opened with a short business discussion followed by games of 500. Prizes were won by Elizabeth and Millie Richman.

In serving lunch at the small tables, appointed with bud vases and yellow roses, the hostess was assisted by her daughter Fern.

Two of the membership, Mrs. Anna Plush and daughter Carolind, who recently returned from a trip to Vermont and New Jersey, entertained with descriptions of their travels.

Plans were made for a breakfast to be held at Cascade park on Wednesday morning, August 12, while their regular meetnig will take place Thursday, August 20, with Mrs. Adam Leishman, Beckford street, hostess.

Jolly Jump-Ups

A new club, the Jolly Jump-Ups, was organized by seven girls meeting Wednesday evening at Sally Saul's home on Long avenue. It will meet hereafter every two weeks.

Ravina Wolfe is president, Sally Saul treasurer, and Mollie Ginsberg, secretary. Other members are Annie Buntman, Nettie Rosenberg, Sylvia Rogovin and Sylvia Abraham.

Engagement News

SECTION LUNCHEON AT BOOK RESIDENCE

Section A, Y. L. B., of the Third U. P. church held a casserole luncheon on Thursday in the home of Mrs. Milton Book on Winslow avenue.

Covers were laid at prettily appointed tables for sixteen members and two guests, Mrs. Ralph Phillips and Miss Phillips. Three new members were welcomed, Mrs. Gladys Gibson, Mrs. Ralph Phillips and Mrs. Jennie Tate.

Afternoon hours were devoted to conversation and sewing. On Thursday, August 13, Mrs. John Ulrich will receive the Section members for a noon luncheon at her home on Beckford street.

1936 Sewing Circle.

Mrs. Wade Broadhead was a visitor at the meeting of the 1936 Sewing circle Thursday evening, with Mrs. Raymond Peluso of Winter avenue.

The meeting was featured by a handkerchief shower in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Joseph Cialella, who received many lovely gifts; 500 was in play, the favors falling to Mrs. Victor Colella, Mrs. Joseph Cialella, Mrs. Thomas Fontana and Mrs. Joseph Cugini. Mrs. Broadhead assisted the hostess with luncheon.

On the occasion of the next meeting, August 20, at the home of Mrs. Louis Ross on Taylor street, the members will honor this hostess' birthday with a hankie shower.

Temenski-Consla Nuptials

Priscilla Temenski, of Winslow avenue, was united in marriage to M. S. Consla, of Oak street, in a quiet ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Zank, of Winslow avenue, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. F. E. Stough, of the St. John's Lutheran church, officiated, and only members of the immediate families were present.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at 8 o'clock, places being laid for eight.

They will be at home to their friends at 1003 Winslow avenue.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONORED AT PARTY

Complimentary to Margaret Anderson, whose marriage to Roy Baynham will take place in the near future, a group of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baynham, on Harding street, one evening this week.

Bingo was the chief pastime, the prizes being awarded to Miss Anderson and Jack Baynham. The guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts from the group.

As a later issue, lunch was served, Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Clifford aiding their mother in serving.

Merry Mad Caps.

Tuesday evening, Merry Mad Caps accompanied by their escorts visited Cascade park for a most enjoyable hamburg fry. At 8:30 the club members and their guests gathered in the grove of the park and joined in the cooking of a delicious hamburger dinner.

Park amusements entertained the guests afterwards and a short automobile ride climaxed the evening.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS HONORED BY CLUB

Miss Irene McClelland, bride-elect of this month, was honored by members of the By-Bid-Klub Thursday evening at a dinner gathering in the grove of Cascade park, marking another special occasion on their summer calendar.

After partaking of the wholesome menu served at 7 o'clock, the honored guest was presented with a handsome gift to use in her future home. Informal diversions interested the group afterwards. Green and yellow appointments were used in the table decorations, which featured the nuptial motif.

This concludes regular meetings until September, when they will again be resumed.

Hitler Sends Condolences

Chancellor Manifestly Distributed By Spain's Execution Of Germans

DEMANDS MADE BY GOVERNMENT

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—Manifestly disturbed by the execution of four Germans by Spanish Communists near Barcelona, Chancellor Adolf Hitler today sent his personal condolences to the families of the victims while the government sternly demanded redress and compensation.

With two notes of protest already forwarded, persistent reports stated the Reich is planning a third message in the nature of an ultimatum if the Spaniards fail to furnish full satisfaction.

Hitler's action in sending his personal sympathies to the bereaved families gave conclusive proof of the gravity with which the incident is regarded in official circles here.

Demonstration Not Unlikely

Foreign office spokesmen told this correspondent the Reich is "loath" to embark upon any actual measures of retailiation or intimidation, but it was said a move such as a naval demonstration off the Spanish coast was not out of the question.

Press, public and officialdom were unanimously of one voice in condemning the executions. It was pointed out again and again that all four victims, arrested and shot as they were on their way to the French border to attnd a convention armed with visas and passports all in order, were on a purely peaceful mission. One of them was not even a member of the Nazi party.

All Berlin papers gave scarehead prominence to the government's latest protest, the headlines reading: "Germany demands indemnity from Spain."

The tense situation created by the killings was expected to hasten German participation in any international measures taken to safeguard foreign lives and property as well as prevent further international complications, although general belief here is that the French proposal is unworkable as it fails to outlaw private aid to compatants in addition to governmental assistance.

August Furniture Sale!

Months ago, as far back as May, we planned an event that in scope of selection and savings would be the year's sensation. We visited leading makers of fine furniture, chose a few suites here, a few there, to represent the cream of the market, at substantial price concessions. Since then prices have advanced. Today's replacements are 10% to 20% more. You can readily grasp the importance of this sale, which offers the furniture, not at reductions on present market value, but 20% to 40% under the values of last May. Because this store's name has always been synonymous with quality furniture, this event means not only unusual savings in dollars, but also the security of enduring satisfaction of GOOD furniture.

HOST OF DELEGATES AT NEW WILMINGTON

Big Missionary Conference Is Opening Today

New Wilmington Will Be Hosts To Annual Religious Gathering For Week

DR. TAYLOR GIVES KEYNOTE ADDRESS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Approximately 550 delegates, missionaries and leaders are gathering here today to open the thirty-first annual New Wilmington Missionary Conference, according to Willis A. McGill, conference manager.

Opening with a keynote address by Dr. Mills J. Taylor, conference chairman, Friday evening, the conference will continue for seven days with the closing meeting to be held Friday, August 14.

Group meetings will be held each morning including Bible Hour, Mission Hour and Institute Hour, where missionaries and delegates unite for informal discussions concerning both the Bible teachings and the work in the mission fields.

The big meeting of the day will be in the conference tabernacle, a large tent situated near the Westminster Conversatory of Music, at 7:45 each evening, when missionaries from each of the four United Presbyterian fields tell of their work.

In the afternoon the entire conference delegation will join in special social and sports programs.

Expect 2,000 Sunday

In order to adequately handle an expected crowd of some 2,000 persons on Sunday, the conference officials have arranged to hold three services simultaneously at 11 Sunday morning. One service will be held in the conference tabernacle, one in the beautiful Westminster chapel, and one in the United Presbyterian church. In the evening two meetings will be held, one in the church and one in the tabernacle.

Two of the three speakers for the morning services will be Dr. H. H. McConnell, pastor of the Second Church, Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. E. Stanley Jones, who comes to New Wilmington after many years of active service in India under the Methodist church.

While at New Wilmington the delegates will be housed in the Westminster dormitories and classes will be held in the administration building. Boys of the conference will occupy Camp Suegin situated on the Westminster athletic field.

Saturday night will be college night, according to Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, at which time Westminster will offer a special program and refreshments for the conference.

RADIO ALARM WORKS TOO WELL FOR SAM

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Ia.—Police radio system may be fine for the apprehension of criminals—but it had its disadvantages for Isadore Sam Glass, traveling salesman.

When merchandise ordered through Glass did not arrive promptly, an irate customer had a "pickup" order broadcast for Glass. He didn't mind that but police who heard the request to locate Glass apparently did not hear it rescinded. During the next three weeks Glass was stopped a total of twenty-four times in his travels about Iowa.

Wants More Alimony

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, Jr.

Dissatisfied with the outcome of a secret separation agreement made two years ago, Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, Jr., wife of the son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, will go to court at Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 17, to seek a legal separation and increased alimony. The separation suit was filed four months ago by Mrs. Smith, who is living with her parents in Syracuse. The Smiths eloped in 1924.

SAVANTS STUDY ART GALLERY ON MOUNTAIN RANGE

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES—A 20-mile long "art gallery" near the Panamint range of mountains bordering Death Valley is being studied by scientists following the return of an expedition which took numerous pictures there.

Designs hewn with crude chisels on the walls of Sand Canyon, a barren cleft, by artists who lived perhaps 2,000 years ago, were studied by the expedition, headed by William Rocque of Los Angeles.

On virtually every smooth rock surface the old time artists cut pictures and symbols in primitive attempts to record their interests.

One big flat rock carries pictures of three human figures dressed in long ceremonial robes. Herds of antelopes are the most favored subject.

Mrs. Marion Hart Gets One Third Of Big Estate

Widow Of Oil Millionaire, Frank C. Hart To Receive Large Sum

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Marion A. Hart, widow of the oil millionaire, Frank C. Hart, today was awarded one-third of his estate, variously estimated at between $2,000,000 and $6,000,000 by Surrogate James A. Foley.

Surrogate Foley upheld Mrs. Hart's contention that New York was the legal residence of Mr. Hart. That entitles the widow to an outright grant of one-third of the estate. Had Mr. Hart's residence been established in Connecticut she would have been entitled only to the income from one-third.

The remaining two-thirds of the estate is to be divided among the three Hart children and Mrs. Muriel Constance Woodworth Hart, the oil man's second wife.

Surrogate Foley recently ruled that the second marriage was illegal in New York and that, so far as the New York laws are concerned, the first Mrs. Hart was still the legal wife at the time of the oil man's death. Last year Mr. Hart flew to Reno, obtained a divorce and some hours later married Miss Woodworth.

Acute Cattle And Feed Outlook Is To Be Expected

Extent Of Rain Next Few Days Will Determine Future Of Corn Crops

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—An acute cattle and feed situation which will continue through the fall and winter was predicted today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as a result of the drought. Recent rains in the corn belt alleviated only slightly the huge damage to grain crops. Wallace declared the extent of the rains in the next few days will mean much to the corn crop prospects. He admitted the crop will be "a very bad one" but declined to estimate the amount of the crop, pending the official estimate by the U. S. crop reporting board Monday on conditions as of Aug. 1.

Plans were under way for a $8,000,000 to $10,000 purchase of seed grains, particularly corn and spring wheat, for the grain belt.

The WPA today increased its work programs in eleven drought-stricken states to add 4,500 jobs for farmers to its relief program, making a total of 93,500 persons to be employed.

FEEDING STUFFS REPORT ISSUED

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Of the 941 samples of feeding stuffs analyzed in 1935 by the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry, 125 were found deficient in protein or fat or contained fiber in excess of local tolerances, it is shown by the annual feeding stuffs report issued today by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

"The high percentage of brands which did not live up to the manufacturer's claims or guarantees demonstrates the importance of this service to the farmers and poultrymen of the state," observed J. Hansell French, secretary of agriculture, upon issuing the report.

Suggest Aids For Traffic Clearance

Several Proposals To Relieve Congestion On Public Square Are Made

With the widening of North street now under way the suggestion is again being made that this street would be an ideal lateral highway for through traffic. It has been suggested that highway 422 be routed from East Washington over East street to North and west on North to Jefferson street. Under the plan parking would be prohibited on North street.

This would take considerable traffic off East Washington street in the main downtown section and relieve congestion at the Public Square.

Another traffic suggestion that is being made is to route heavy trucks going through New Castle down Jefferson street from the Public Square and thence up to Taylor street where it intersects with Mill. The trucks would go up Taylor street to East Washington where the street connects with Butler avenue. This would aid also in relieving congestion on East Washington street.

AROUND CITY HALL

Employes of the city sewer bureau will lay 175 pipe in Sampson street for the purpose of curing a water evil. Everytime rain falls cellars are flooded. On Wednesday night residents suffered again, so Thursday morning council got busy, ordered pipe and had excavation for a connection to a sewer started.

It is probable that when Monday arrives Mayor Charles E. McGrath will be in council and council will decide how many will be employed to assist Earl Wimer, controller, conduct an audit of legal department books. Wimer asked yesterday if council was ready to discuss the proposition and Acting Mayor James L. Fink, suggested the discussion be held Monday. The only reason the audit now is proposed developed from the bonding company's request that the city return the bond placed for former Solicitor Robert White. Wimer wants help. He claims the job is a stupendous task and will require at least several weeks' work. When a past audit was conducted the attitude was taken that he as auditor for the city should conduct it. The matter probably will be settled on Monday.

Council adopted the recommendation of City Solicitor William D. Cobau Wednesday and granted permission to the Dollar Savings Association to redeem a Fifth ward property sold to the city for taxes. The association will pay the city back taxes, interest and other costs amounting to $76.23.

Should anyone wish to see a "dash for life" all he or she needs do is to visit the corner of North Jefferson and Grant streets—a fourway intersection, where two main highways meet. Some autoists do and others do not obey the "Stop" signs in Grant street, and cars descending the hill seldom give the cars in West Grant street a chance to enter Jefferson street. Men, women and children may have the right way at an intersection, but take a chance on their lives every time they cross that thoroughfare. Sometime ago a citizen asked that a light be stationed there. One or two of the officials believed that it would not be feasible owing to the hill.

DROUGHT TO CAUSE HIGHER FARM PRICES

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Higher prices for the farmer for a number of his products were predicted today by J. Hansell French, secretary of agriculture. The prediction is based on federal and state crop reports since the drought reached the emergency stage.

Butter, cheese, eggs and the better grades of cattle are to bring better prices. Wheat prices will average higher. Feed grain prices are already going up. Butter prices during the remainder of the year probably will average the highest since 1930.

Contracts Awarded For Airport Project

Beckwith Machinery Company Is Given Contracts In Local Construction Job

Contracts for the use of two 12 cubic yard "carry-alls" on the new municipal airport have been let to the Beckwith Machinery Company, it was stated today by J. Vale Downie, director of district 14, WPA. The carry-alls are to be on the job within a week.

The carry-alls are giant earth removers and are powered by 95 horse power caterpillar tractors. The Letourneau type of carryall is to be used, each of them capable of moving 125 cubic yards of earth per hour.

REORGANIZE ARMY CORPS IN JAPAN

(International News Service)

TOKYO.—Teachnical units in the Japanese army are to be made full regiments according to Imperial proclamation given by Emperor Hirohito to Field-Marshal Prince Kotohito Kanin, chief of the general staff who is ordered to reorganize present independent artillery, engineers, transport and balloon battalions.

Aviation units will be strengthened. The balloon corps will be transferred from the air service to artillery regiments.

Officers, men, horses and equipment will be correspondingly increased with the aid of new funds just voted by the special diet session when 50 per cent of the nation's total budget was given to army and navy demands.

Patience is courage, in difficult circumstances, drawn out to any length.

INSPECTION GROUPS ARE CONSOLIDATED

HARRISBURG.—The two inspection divisions of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund have been consolidated by Oscar D. Deckard, manager, after a conference with Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore.

To date this year the inspectors have checked 2314 plants of clients and have made 6950 specific safety recommendations.

During June 439 commercial and 136 mine inspections were made.

Week-end: A three-day period used to punish the stomach and strip off the fenders.

Alvin Karpis Is Now At Alcatraz

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—Alvin Karpis, erstwhile Public Enemy No. 1, came to the end of the trail as the gates of Alcatraz federal prison —America's "Devil's Island"—closed behind him for life, Thursday.

Karpis was one of 20 federal felons to arrive at the island prison.

CLEVELAND—Shorts for women received the official endorsement of the city of Cleveland.

"They can wear all the shorts they want," said Safety Director Elliott Ness, when asked if he planned to follow the lead of New York police in their "No Shorts for Women" crusade.

"I'm for them," said John Flynn, the director's executive assistant. "The less women wear the healthier they will be. Generous exposure to the sun can be nothing but beneficial."

Federal Housing To Open Again

Disbanded some months ago the Federal Housing Administration unit in New Castle is again being organized and within a short time expects to be functioning. A director for the New Castle unit has not yet been selected and Walter Kielar, the associate director, is in charge.

Rooms will be opened in the Hoyt block on the Public Square and the unit will function much as the former unit did except that the field of activity has been broadened.

Will Eliminate Water Nuisance

Council passed a motion submitted by Streets Director B. F. Butler at city hall Thursday which authorized Purchasing Agent Joseph Alexander to buy 175 feet of terra cotta pipe to eliminate a water nuisance in Sampson street. The pipe will be laid south of the brewery. Water flowed into cellars in that vicinity at times, council was told.

Mahoningtown School Reunion Draws Crowd

The eleventh annual Mahoningtown school alumni reunion, marked the fifty-third anniversary of the Mahoningtown school and with ideal weather and a gathering of former students and teachers, from far and near, marked August 6, 1936, a memorable day to those in attendance. Many new faces were among those seen Thursday attending their first reunion, which added much to the enjoyment of the day.

At 2 p. m. the doors were opened at the school and a most interesting meeting was called by the president, J. Harvey Gwin, who introduced Rev. F. R. Peters, a former pastor of the Mahoningtown Methodist church who left here just 38 years ago, and is now retired and living in Sewickley. Rev. Peters attended the reunion for the first time and his opening prayer, after the singing of the Doxology, was one long to be remembered, it was so very impressive and inspirational. He was accompanied by his daughter, Julia Peters McGraw, of Ambridge, Pa.

Charles R. Simpson of Frederick, Md., one of the oldest pupils, who attended the school in 1867, when it was located on the other side of town in the days of the old canal, gave an interesting talk. W. W. McGaughey, of Akron, O., who is secretary of the organization, received some very interesting letters from former teachers and pupils, which were read and eagerly received. Mary Eichbaum Simpson, of Bristol, Tenn., who taught grade 1 in the yesteryears, told of a recent visit with Mr. and Mrs. James W. Coates, of Constantine, Mich., who stopped at her home enroute home from a southern trip. She would like to hear from her former pupils at 114 South Fifth street, Bristol, Tenn. Letters from. Prof. Marion C. Turrell, of Champaign, Ill., James W. Coates, of Constantine, Mich. and Maude Daugherty Patterson of Saltsburg were read. Mrs. Daugherty later surprised the group by her attendance at the park . Garfield Thomas of Ellwood City, rendered a very pleasing number, "Make New Friends But Keep the Old Ones."

Since the last reunion, J. D. Patterson, who served as janitor back in the early days, Add Daughterty Martin, a member of the executive committee, and Hattie Cooper, a former teacher, have passed away.

Among those attending the reunion for the first time, who were called upon for remarks, were: Elsie Curran Reese of Beach City, O.; Ralph Thomas, Toledo, O.; Blanche Oatey Bellas of Terre Haute, Ind.; Charles R. Simpson of Frederick, Md.; Rev. F. R. Peters of Sewickley, Ethel Coates Pitzer, Luella Blair Harwig and Mildred Meyer Cumbie, all of Youngstown; W. W. Beard of Baltimore, Md.; Pearl Lutton Peterson of Cochranton, Pa., and Sylvia Barnes Thomas, who recently returned from several years spent as a missionary in Singapore and Manila, Philippine Islands.

All of the officers were re-elected and are as follows: President, J. Harvey Gwin; vice president, J. L. Thoman; secretary, W. W. McGaughey; treasurer, Ralph Wettich, and general committee, Mrs. Robert Magill, chairman, and Bessie Coates Pitzer, John W. Louer, Robert Sheehy, Frank Barnes and Jim Bailey.

At 4 o'clock a group picture was taken through the courtesy of Paul E. Thomas, and the crowd then journeyed to Cascade park where 200 sat down to a sumptuous dinner in the grove. Credit is due Mrs. Robert Magill, who acted as chairman, and John Louer, who always has charge of making the coffee, which means "the more you drink, the more you want", and the following committee: Bessie Coates Pitzer, Frank Barnes, Robert Sheehy, James Bailey, W. W. McGaughey, Mrs. Harvey Gwin, and Mrs. John Louer.

At the park, registration was carried on as folks arrived throughout the evening, and at a very late hour reunionists departed for their homes, anticipating the next reunion to be held August 4, 1937.

Out of town guests included: Blanche Oatey Bellas, Terre Haute, Ind.; W. W. Beard, Baltimore, Md.; Charles R. Simpson, Frederick, Md.; William J. Caven, Denver, Colo.; Robert Barnes and Leola Thompson Barnes, Pittsburgh; Dora Barnes, Pittsburgh; Sylvia Barnes Thomas, Manila, Philippine Islands; Ralph Thomas, Toledo, O.; Rev. F. R. Peters, Sewickley, Pa.; Julia Peters McGraw, Mrs. John N. Lind and son and Dorothy McGraw of Ambridge, Pa.; Garfield Thomas, Gladys Thomas Klindienst and Alvie Klindienst of Ellwood City; Mazie Hammond Griffin and A. G. Griffin of Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bollard and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffith of Warren, O.; Louella Blair Harwig, Mildred Meyer Cumbie and Mrs. Clyde Pitzer of Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. John Hollibaugh of Rochester; Edwin Hardwing and Theo Thompson Wood of Alliance, O.; Sallie Rhodes Mallory, Winifred Mallory, Joyce Mallory and Mrs. Walter Snyder of Greenville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Pitzer of Warren, O; Pearl Lutton Peterson, Cochranton, Pa.; W. W. McGaughey, Akron, O.; Maude Daugherty Patterson of Saltsburg, Pa.; Myrtle Smith Leonard of Erie, Pa.; Joe McIlvenny, Bessemer, Pa.; Elsie Curran Reese, Beach City, O.; May Churchfield Bronstetter, Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Blanche Robison Dick, Philadelphia; Elizabeth Bevan Walter, Warren, O.; Sara Clark of Mt. Jackson.

The general arrangement committee is looking forward to a ham fry to be held at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Gwin at Rambler's Rest during the latter part of August.

W. P. A. Garments To Be Displayed

Clothing Made By Members Of Sewing Project To Be Displayed Tuesday Evening

The lobby of the Liberty Hotel will be the scene of a fashion parade, Tuesday evening, August 11, as the clothing that has been made by members of the Works Progress Administration sewing project, is modelled by local children.

At 7:30 o'clock a concert of music will be presented by members of the W. P. A. band, at the Liberty street park after which the display will be shown in the hotel lobby. These garments, which have been made by the unemployed of this ward, will be distributed among the needy here.

The committee in charge of the display of the clothing includes, Mrs. Richard Cooper, Mrs. R. F. Horchler, Mrs. A. S. Eberhart and Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer.

PET TROUTS EAT PANCAKES FROM MASTER'S HANDS

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — Rainbow trout that eat and thrive on pancakes, live in a private lake owned by A. D. Burr, near Glenburn, Shasta county.

Several times daily Burr takes huge stacks of cakes to the edge of the lake, gives a peculiar whistle and the water starts "boiling" as hundreds of one to 10-pound trout dash for their treat—eating out of Burr's hands.

Burr, who considers the trout as pets, allows NO angling in his private pool.

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports ALL-BRAN Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which miss the proper "bulk" tend to cause common constipation. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches, loss of appetite, even serious disease.

Avoid these faulty meals by adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to your menus. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soups, salads or other cereals. Or work into appetizing muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It adds a delicious nut-sweet flavor to your recipes.

How much better than taking patent medicines—sometimes harmful! ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Dates Selected For Institute

County Teachers Will Have Annual Sessions In Union High School In October

PROGRAM NOW BEING PLANNED

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling, announced this morning that the dates of October 2 and 3 have been selected for the annual institute for the teachers of the rural schools of Lawrence county.

Sessions will take place in the Union township high school building and a program of exceptional merit is being planned. It is expected that the names of the principal speakers will be ready for announcement within the next few days.

The county institute is held around this date each year, fulfilling the requirement of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction. The county schools will not be in session on Friday, October 2, because of the institute.

HONEY DIGESTIBLE

Because honey is composed so largely of simple sugars it can be assimilated by the body with ease. If eaten in moderate quantities it provides a very wholesome addition to the list of sweets, and may be used in place of sugar as a modifier of milk for infants. This is taken from a leaflet issued by the United States department of agriculture.

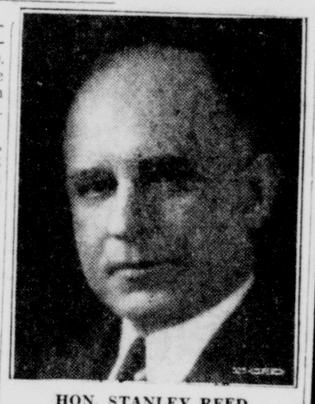

High Justice Department Official At Rotary Monday

Hon. Stanley Reed, solicitor-general of the United States Department of Justice at Washington, D. C., will be the guest speaker of the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon in The Castleton on Monday, Aug. 10, it was announced today.

Prominent throughout the nation, Mr. Reed comes that day to speak to the Rotarians and their invited guests on "Crime, Criminals and G-Men".

Special invitations had been sent out today in behalf of Rotary by President Ray S. Tannehill to the Kiwanis and Lions clubs. It is thought that many of their members will enjoy the address of the Justice Department officer.

Mr. Reed, it is understood, is on a speaking tour. On Monday evening he is scheduled to address the Butler Rotary club.

Flood Control Advocates Are Rejoicing Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—State Senator W. B. Rodgers, president of the Tri-State Authority, Citizens Flood Committee, today hailed passage of flood control legislation by the Pennsylvania state legislature as the "second major victory" for flood control advocates.

Senator Rodgers said:

"The second major victory in the fight for protection from floods has now been won. The first came with enactment of the Federal Flood Control Act early in June. After thirty years of effort, the point has now been reached where a comprehensive flood control program can be started.

"With the way paved for co-operation by the state is acquiring land, U. S. army engineers can now proceed to determine by geological tests just where the first reservoir should be located and get busy making working drawings of the dams. We have every assurance that this work will be carried forward without delay."

ANTI-NOISE LAW PUTS HOUSTON ON ITS TIP-TOES

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Texas—Houston citizens were going about their business as usual today—but on their tip-toes.

Yes, Houston has an anti-noise ordinance.

It all came about when the city fathers decided that no matter how large the city of New York is—it's not the only city that can have such an ordinance.

Therefore—unless one wants to pay a fine up to $200—you cannot:

Drive a rattling car or truck.

Let your chickens crow or your dog bark to the annoyance of others.

Play your radio or musical instrument too loud—especially between the hours of 10:30 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Sell peanuts, popcorn or other merchandise accompanied by loud voices.

Citizens agree on one thing about the new law, however. It provides for the arrest of the persistent fellow who gets behind your car and insists on blowing his horn to hurry you up—even though the traffic light is red.

No matter how much glassware a house keeper may already have, it is difficult to resist buying a set of the 1936 crop of summer beverage glasses decorated with everything from well-known characters of stage and screen to astrological designs.

Health Protection FOR CHILDREN'S LAUNDRY!

MOTHERS will confirm the extreme importance of hygienic cleanliness for baby's comfort and health. This means that frocks, nighties, diapers, bibs, sheets and cotton crib covers must be sanitary. In laundering white cottons and linens a mild Clorox solution bleaches, banishes ordinary stains, deodorizes and disinfects in one easy, economical operation. A slightly stronger Clorox solution takes out stubborn stains such as ink, fruit, flower, grass, beverage, medicine, blood—even scorch and mildew.

Clorox also disinfects, deodorizes and removes stains from refrigerators, food containers, drainboards, sinks, bathtubs, basins, toilet bowls, tile, linoleum, sickroom utensils and garbage receptacles.

You'll be amazed to learn the number of ways that Clorox can help you. The label lists many important household and personal uses. Clorox is concentrated for economy. Always order by name. There's only one Clorox.

Butler Pioneers Are Called By Death

Mrs. Ella Headland, 71, Wife Of Coroner Dies Suddenly

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 7.—Samuel W. Swartzlander, 84, affectionately known as "Whiskers," because of his long, luxuriant beard, prominent carriage builder for many years in Butler county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar J. Beach, 219 South Washington street, late yesterday. Mr. Swartzlander was active in the Odd Fellows lodge, being a charter member of Ziegler lodge for 57 years.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Wayside Inn, Odd Fellows home for the aged at Grove City, and for 57 years was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge at Chicora.

Mrs. Ella Headland, 71, wife of Dr. Headland, coroner of Butler county, died suddenly today on the porch at her home on Center avenue from a heart attack.

Homes Are Leased For Landon Rally

WEST MIDDLESEX, Pa., Aug. 7. Many residents have received offers to lease their homes for the entire week of August 17, when Gov. Alf Landon comes and a number already have accepted. Mrs. W. L. Selby will turn her eight-room home over to the Warren (Pa.) delegation, and the C. M. Allison residence has been secured as the Venango county headquarters.

The county organization has leased several farms adjacent to the Tam O'Shanter golf course, where the rally will be held, to be used as parking grounds.

DANGER

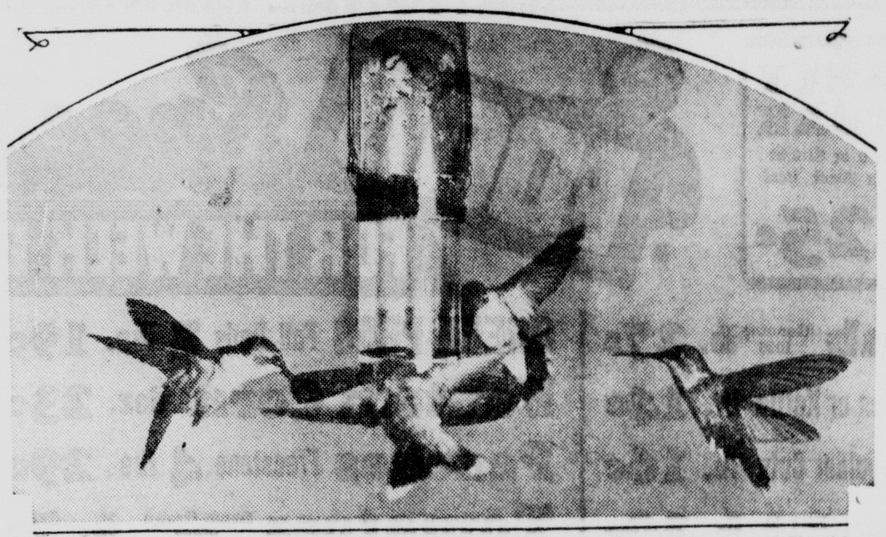

McTavish was riding in a taxi when the driver lost control of the vehicle, which was traveling at a rapid rate.

"Hey, mon," yelled the Scot, in evident concern, "what is the matter?"

"Darned if I know," replied the driver. "I can't stop her."

"Well, for heaven's sake," yelled McTavish, at least shut the bloomin' meter off."

This remarkable photograph of four ruby-throated humming birds was taken at Holderness, N. H., with an exposure of 1/100,000th of a second, a speed made possible by a system developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The wings of the birds make nearly sixty beats a second, but this lens stopped them. (Central Press)

Special Train Being Arranged From Greensburg

GREENSBURG, Aug. 7—Arrangements have been made by Republican County Chairman Andrew G. Uncapher to charter a special train to carry Westmoreland county's delegates to West Middlesex Saturday, August 22, when Governor Alf Landon, of Kansas will deliver his first major speech in the campaign.

Persons from the Ligonier Valley, New Florence, Bolivar, Derry and Pleasant Unity will board the train at Latrobe. Those from Mt. Pleasant, Scottdale and West Newton will board in Greensburg. The Monessen contingent will drive to Pittsburgh. A delegation of 300 is expected.

SEEK SIDEWALK COMPROMISE

Attorney Robert White submitted a communication to council, at their city hall meeting Thursday in which he as counsel for William and Nick Chalkis offered to pay the city $10. The city having laid a sidewalk in front of the Chalkis property in Long avenue. The city filed a lien for $19.50, against the property.

White said the sidewalk is now worse than when the city put it down. The property owners plan to lay a new sidewalk, White said.

Streets Director B. F. Butler was directed by council to have the sidewalk inspected.

Wants Dust Laid On Rosena Site

Russell Canaan appeared before council in the city building Thursday with a petition signed by practically all the business interests near the Rosena site which asked the city to take some action whereby the dust nuisance alleged to exist there be abated. Canaan and the petitioners said that dust from the site is blown into business houses.

The speaker suggested to Safety Director J. M. Rice that he use fire department hose to wet the loose dirt and sand. He said the department now pumps the water into the river when ever a drill is held and argued that by squirting the water on the loost dirt and sand it would go far to keep down dust storms. Rice did not agree with the suggestion.

On motion of Councilman J. O. Alexander the petition was referred to committee.

Correct this sentence: "The wreck was his fault," said the man, "because he wouldn't move over when I tried to pass him."

Truck Upsets On Butler Avenue

Unable to negotiate the curve in Butler avenue near the F. A. Schulz residence, a city truck driven by Cecil Bassler upset at 7:50 this morning. The truck had on board a load of castings to be used in the pre-heater at the garbage disposal plant.

Neither the driver nor the cargo were hurt and apparently the truck was not damaged except for some paint scratches.

Boy Drowns While Out Hunting Crabs

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 7.—Twelve-year-old James Robinson, hunting crabs along the Allegheny river bank with Charles Richards, 12, ventured out from shore in a flatboat. The craft rapidly filled with water and sank at the foot of Central avenue.

The Richards boy called on Robinson not to get into the boat, he said. The lad went down twice and young Richards waded in, trying in vain to reach the drowning youngster.

Leroy Hess, city fireman, recovered the body.

Buried In Casket He Made Himself

ELKINS, W. Va., Aug. 7.—Dr. Arthur Parker Butt, 65-year-old former president of the West Virginia Medical association, was buried yesterday in a casket he had made for himself earlier this week. Friends said this was in accordance with his wishes.

Dr. Butt, who headed the medical association in 1916, had been ill for several weeks. The surgeon was widely known in state medical circles, and was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. The widow and four children survive.

Blame Fog For Crash Of Plane

Federal And State Probes Being Conducted In Crash Fatal To Eight

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7—While federal and state inquiries were pressed today into the events surrounding the crash of the airliner "City of Memphis" with the loss of eight lives Wednesday night, the investigators indicated they would blame a thick ground fog for the tragedy.

A. S. Koch, aeronautical inspector of the United States Department of Commerce stationed at Lambert field in St. Louis, said that farmers in the neighborhood of the crash seven miles west of here reported that just before the accident the plane was flying low and appeared to be turning back to the airport.

Proposals Made For Amendments To Constitution

Secretary Of Commonwealth Handed Five Constitutional Amendment Proposals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Five constitutional amendment proposals, led by one opening the door to more frequent amendment of the state constitution, today were in the hands of the secretary of the commonwealth following adjournment of the special session of the legislature.

Adopted for the first time by the special legislative session, the proposed charter changes will be resubmitted to the 1937 meeting of the general assembly when it convenes next January.

Introduced by Sen. George L. Reed, R, Dauphin, one resolution would lift the constitutional restriction prohibiting submission of amendments to the electorate oftener than once every five years.

Other amendment proposals passed were offered by Reps. Herbert Cohen, D, York, and Ellwood J. Turner, R, Delaware, providing a $42,000,000 bond issue for state building construction; by Sen. George L. Woodward, R, Philadelphia, Changing municipal indebtedness provisions, and providing a graduated income tax, and a fifth by Sen. Joseph Ziesenheim, R, Erie, limiting real estate taxation to 10 mills.

If approved by the 1937 session, the proposals will go to the voters for ratification in November, 1938.

Former Officials Given Sentences

Former Tampa Police Officials Given Four Years On Kidnaping Charge

(International News Service)

BARTOW, Fla., Aug. 7.—Judge Robert T. Dewell today denied a motion for a new trial for five former members of the Tampa police department, found guilty on a charge of kidnaping growing out of the flogging of three labor organizers last Nov. 30.

Judge Dewell then sentenced them to four years of hard labor in the state penitentiary at Raiford.

The defendants were former police sergeant C. A. "Smitty" Brown, C. W. Carlisle, John P. Bridges, Sam E. Crosby and F. W. Switzer.

They were found guilty of a charge of kidnaping Eugene F. Poulnot who, with two companions, Joseph Shoemaker and Sam Rogers, was kidnapped and flogged after being questioned by police concerning alleged Communistic activities.

Shoemaker later died, assertedly from the effects of the whipping.

Discuss Plans For Financing Forum

Plans for financing New Castle's new Community Forum were discussed last night when a group of civic service and cultural clubs of this city met at the Free Public Library. It was the second of a series of meetings called to outline a program for conducting the forum.

W. Herbert Smith, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presided. Miss Ruth Maybray acted as secretary of the group.

Another discussion meeting is planned for August 13 at 7 p. m.

Council Refuses To O. K. Neubauer

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—For perhaps the tenth time within a month, Pittsburgh today was again without a police head, following rejection by council of the "recess" appointment by Mayor William N. McNair of Ex-Magistrate George Neubauer as public safety director.

Council's action was by unanimous vote. A cablegram was sent to the vacationing McNair in London, and it is probable he will cable back the name of yet another "recess" appointee.

New Milk Order Effective Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Approved by Gov. George H. Earle, a new order was issued today by the state milk control board changing the period of computing wholesale cream prices in bulk from monthly to semi-monthly.

Better adjustments to the market will be made for cream prices, the board pointed out, under the new order, which becomes effective August 12.

Germany Will Serve Warning

Spain To Be Told 13,000 German Residents Must Be Protected

FIERY NAZIS SEEK DEMONSTRATION

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—An ultimatum to the Madrid government, threatening intervention in Spain's civil war unless the lives of 13,000 Germans there are protected, was reported under consideration in high Nazi quarters today as German anger over the "execution" of four Germans by a "revolutionary tribunal" near Barcelona mounted.

Fiery Nazis called on the government to stage a terrifying naval demonstration before Barcelona, and it was understood that Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who sent Admiral General Erich Raeder, admirality chief, to naval headquarters at Kiel, planned two naval steps:

1—Concentration of Germany's present naval strength around Spain in ports controlled by the leftist government.

2—Immediate dispatch of more warships to Spain.

Mealwhile, the German government continued with routine measures of redress, filing a second protest in Madrid and demanding full compensation.

While determined to press for early satisfaction, the Reich professed itself loath to take any such measures as the staging of intimidating naval demonstrations, although action of this sort is not impossible.

France's non-intervention proposal was viewed with some skepticism, but Germany is willing to join in any international discussions. The official view here was that nothing practical is yet in sight."

Germany's stand, like Italy's, is that only one type of agreement is workable—namely a pact applicable to private aid as well as governmental assistance and that the Soviets must subscribe with the rest.

Every town needs at least one unencumbered old bachelor to be chairman and handle all of the thank-you jobs.

Second Longest Special Session Just Concluded

Session Of 1883 Only Special One Which Lasted Longer

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Adjournment of the current special session of the legislature early today concluded the longest extraordinary meeting held since 1883, and the second longest in the history of the Commonwealth.

Strangely enough, the session of 1883—which ran for 183 days, or almost twice as long as this year's—also was called by a Democratic governor, Robert Emory Pattison.

The subject of Governor Pattison's call was legislative redistricting, and it took the solons from June 7 until December 6, 1883, to settle the issue.

Sine die adjournment today of the session called May 4 by Gov. George H. Earle brought the life of the meeting to 93 official days.

Extending through 14 weeks of bitter political debate, fraught with recurring deadlocks over relief and social security legislation, the 1936 session more than doubled estimates of its length made early in May. After Governor Earle issued his 19-point call, observers predicted it would require six and perhaps eight weeks of deliberation.

Three American Girl Tourists In Spain Rescued

(International News Service)

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—Claude G. Bowers, United States ambassador to Spain, returned to St. Jean De Luz today aboard the U. S. coast guard vessel Cayuga after a week's journey along the northern coast of Spain as far as Corunna and Vigo during which the ship picked up 19 refugees, including three American girl tourists trapped at Vigo.

The other rescued refugees were Cubans and citizens of Argentina. Bowers stated all foreigners who wished to leave ports in northern Spain have been evacuated.

Americanism: Kicking because many toil to enrich a boss; spending a billion for lottery tickets to enrich a lucky winner.

Poor Directors Are In Session

Seek To Break Stranglehold Of Social Welfare Workers, On Agencies

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 7.—Poor directors from 20 Western Pennsylvania counties assembled here today prepared to launch a vigorous campaign to break, in the words of their leaders, "the stranglehold of social workers on public welfare agencies in the state and to obtain the return of welfare administration, including relief, to the counties."

Mrs. Cora D. Shannon, of Blair county, who was elected chairman, denounced the "social workers for their efforts to regiment the welfare agencies and place control in one central body in Harrisburg."

Not Proper Education

"Our opponents feel that we do not have the proper education to carry on this work," she continued. "They think we were established back in the days of Queen Elizabeth and are out of date but we have the true system for caring for the poor. We are not a manufacturing concern. We are taking care of human life and taking care of it in the right way.

"Our opponents are organized and fighting us tooth and nail."

Mrs. Shannon declared the first task of the poor directors was to "inject some energy and courage" into the State Poor Directors' Association so that it will "stand up and fight."

Young Girl Is Fatally Burned

(International News Service)

TAMAQUA, Fla., Aug. 7—Myrtle Hill, 17, died at the Pottsville hospital, shortly after she was turned into a human torch by an explosion of kerosine in the kitchen stove of her home in New Ringold, near here, today.

The girl, according to her family, was preparing breakfast and had poured the oil in the stove when it exploded, igniting her clothes.

If he kills and loots and terrorizes and has forty followers he is a gangster. If he has millions of followers, he is a statesman.

Toll Roads Are Thing Of Past

Pennsylvania Once Had 2,500 Miles Of Private Owned Highways

LAST ACQUIRED SIX YEARS AGO

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Dusty archives of the Department of Highways tell an interesting story of the rise of toll roads in Pennsylvania—to a total of approximately 2500 miles in 1830; and developments of the next 100 years which brought about the elimination of the last of these privately-owned roads in the state only six years ago.

Pausing in the midst of Pennsylvania's present day highway program—a program which includes an $11,000,000 Federal Grade Crossing Elimination schedule; a $9,000,000 Works Program Highway setup; and extensive WPA work—Warren VanDyke, Secretary of Highways, today reviewed these humble beginnings of the State's present 38,000 mile highway system.

Toll roads—usually called turnpikes because of the piked barriers which restricted travel on privately-owned toll roads in the 18th and 19th centuries—came into existence in the state, the Secretary points out, shortly after the close of the Revolutionary War.

They were built by private companies and attracted much attention because of the great need for roads in the new nation. Records show that when the first company—which built the Philadelphia and Lancaster Turnpike—was formed in 1792 stock was oversubscribed soon after the books were opened.

So great was the turnpike boom that by 1830 more than 2500 miles of toll roads were in operation in the state.

Some of the companies prospered but in other cases stockholders with visions of sudden wealth were doomed to disappointment since, despite their simple construction, initial costs of the roads were high and revenue failed to reach the expected peak. The advance of railroads, too, played an important part in the decline of turnpikes.

Thus soon after organization, many of the companies gave up their ventures and each succeeding year saw more turnpike mileage abandoned. In most cases this mileage reverted to local authorities.

In 1911 when a Toll Road Commission was created by the Legislature to study this problem, only 722 miles of such roads were found in operation in the state; and 108 companies, with a capital stock of $3,199,535, were listed.

The final acquisition was made July 2, 1930—only six years ago—with purchases of the Lancaster and New Holland Turnpike, 5.39 miles of toll road between Lancaster and Mechanicsburg, Lancaster county. The purchasing price was $39,000.

Must Advertise For Materials To Repave Street

During councilmanic session at the city hall Thursday Solicitor William D. Cobau informed council that the legal manner in which the city would buy materials for the repair and resurfacing of North street, which will be widened, is to advertise for bids as the amount of materials would exceed a cost of $500. In conformity with his opinion council authorized an advertisement asking for bids. Some days ago council authorized the purchasing agent to buy the materials and he took up the proposal with the solicitor hence the opinion.

ISSUE NEW MANUAL FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY

HARRISBURG—A manual entitled "Creating Safer Communities" a guide for the formation of local highway safety units in Pennsylvania counties, cities and towns, has just been released by the Governor's Highway Safety Council according to Secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly, executive vice chairman of the council.

Twenty thousand copies have already been distributed throughout the state to the members of the county units of the Governor's Highway Safety Council, local officials, civic club members, school officials and others working for traffic control.

DOG AIDS POLICE CAPTURE THUGS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Brownie, a chow dog was credited with the capture of three youthful bandits who robbed his master.

Frank Orenstien's car broke down and as he stepped out the thugs held him up, took $80 and fled. Brownie, who had been riding with Orenstien, jumped down and barking loudly, trailed after their car. Detective Harry Browser, attracted by the dog's antics followed in a police car. After a short chase he edged the robbers' car to the curb and arrested the suspects.

Acts 26:19—"I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for August 9 is Acts 9:1-31; 22:3-21; Galatians 1:11-17; I Timothy 1:12-17, the Golden Text being Acts 26:19, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision".)

The conversion of Saul of Tarsus and the consequent change of him from the church's chief adversary to its chief advocate and Christianity's bitterest persecutor to its most effective propagator, is a miracle whose value from the standpoint of the convincing power of the gospel is second only to the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

Saul the Persecutor.

Our first glimpse of Saul is at the stoning to death of Stephen: "They laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul... And Saul was consenting unto his death....And Saul laid waste the church, entering into every house, and dragging men and women, and committed them to prison." For some months Saul continued to be the wolf that terrorized and devastated the infant church of Christ. So aggressive was he that he procured authority to reach out 160 miles from Jerusalem to persecute "the people of the way" in the ancient city of Damascus. During the six or eight days necessary for him to travel here on his mission of violence we may picture him in these words of Luke in our lesson: "Saul, yet breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and asked of him letters to Damascus unto the synagogues, that if he found any that were of the Way, whether men or women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem."

The Persecutor Arrested.

But Saul's papers were never served. Instead he himself was arrested by the risen Christ of glory who appeared in person and apprehended him and gave him a commission to become his apostle to the gentile world, the church's greatest missionary, the gospel's chief exponent, the most Christlike Christian the gospel has produced in all these 19 centuries: "As he journied, it came to pass that he drew nigh unto Damascus: and suddenly there shone round about him a light out of heaven: and he fell upon the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he said, Who art thou Lord: And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest....Rise and enter into the city and it shall be told thee what thou shalt do. And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw nothing and they led him by the hand, and brought him unto Damascus. And he was three days without sight, and did neither eat nor drink."

"Brother Saul."

What a change the Holy Spirit works in the converted sinner! Instead of the devastating wolf in the fold, he is addressed by one of the fold as "Brother Saul", and told, "The Lord, even Jesus, who appeared unto thee in the way which thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mayest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Spirit....And he received his sight; and he arose and was baptized." This physical sight was but the reflection of the spiritual sight with which Christ flooded Paul's life through the next 30 years of his fruitful career. Paul became a new creature in Christ, as does every converted sinner through repentance of sin and faith in Christ as Saviour. "Before, a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious, I obtained mercy, and the grace of our Lord abounded exceedingly with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus."

Dr. Grant E. Fisher Guest Preacher At Central Presbyterian

In the absence of the pastor, Dr. C. B. Wingerd, on his vacation, Dr. Grant E. Fisher, of this city, will occupy the pulpit of the Central Presbyterian church on next Sunday morning. His subject will be "By the Rivers," and the feature of the meeting will be song by the same title, the music of which was composed by Dr. Fisher and the words by his wife. The song will be sung by Robert Duff, with Miss Elizabeth Brewster playing the violin obligato. This song has achieved considerable popularity, being sung in some of the largest churches in the country.

SPEND MORE FOR TIES THAN RAILS

HARRISBURG.—The State Department of Forests and Waters offers this "do you know?" item.

In discussing the importance of the lumber industry in Pennsylvania Deputy-Secretary W. J. B. Winters revealed that while it is customary to think of railroads in terms of steel, the cost of supplying wooden ties for railroads actually equals or exceeds items of steel.

Winters said that upward of 3000 ties per mile of track are used by the railroads in Pennsylvania or a total of 30,000,000 ties, making the railroads one of the leading wood industries in the state.

Crash Victims Are Recovering

Thirteen Under Observation In Hospital Following Crash Near Huntingdon

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 7.—Thirteen persons, three of them severely injured, remained under observation in a hospital here today as a result of a bus crash that took the lives of a young woman and a man west of here yesterday.

Most seriously injured were Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. Martha Gray, of Washington, Pa., Kelly was believed suffering internal injuries, the exact nature of which will be determined after X-rays are taken, while his wife received a fractured skull, lacerations and bruises. The extent of Mrs. Gray's injuries were also to be determined by an X-ray examination.

Although a few of them may be released later in the day, all 13 of those injured in the accident that occurred when the large passenger bus skidded off the wet road during a rainstorm and overturned were held at the hospital temporarily.

Victims of the crash were Miss Florence Corrigan, 32, Cleveland, O., and Frank Haluk, 26, Youngstown, O., with the others injured, they were riding in the bus which was en route from Pittsburgh to New York. The accident was under investigation today.

Big Gas Well Is Burning Fiercely

Gas Well In Ontario, Canada, Catches Fire From Spark Of Engine

(International News Service)

TILLSONBURG, Ont., Aug. 7.—Fearing a terrific explosion is likely at any minute, firefighters at the Dereham township farm of George Clark, nine miles west of here, today notified officials of the Michigan Central railway that the blowing up of a 2,000,000-foot flaming gas well would block their main line.

The tracks are within a few hundred feet of the well, which burst into flame late yesterday when a spark from a locomotive fired surrounding dry grass.

The flames rapidly spread and destroyed the housing over the shaft. The heat cracked the well capping and the gas burst into flame with a roar that could be heard for miles.

Terrific heat from the fire burned nearby green trees.

Although the gas is now escaping only through a three-quarter-inch vent in the metal cap of the well, should the cap give way, not only would the fire blaze with redoubled intensity, but the explosion would tear from the ground 900 feet of metal pipe.

Car Taken By Ohio Fugitive Found On Road

Wampum Constable Finds Machine Abandoned On Road To Koppel

Auto taken at pistol point from L. C. Edelem, 40, of Brady Lake, at Kent, O., late yesterday by a man who had shot and beaten Erie Railroad Detective Charles Bonk, 63, was found abandoned by Constable Raymond Talley one quarter mile out of Wampum on the main highway leading to Koppel, it was stated today by the constable. Erie railroad detectives at noon today were examining the car for fingerprints in the hope of apprehending the detective's assailant.

According to reports from Kent, Detective Bonk discovered a man, about 23 years old, he believed a fugitive from Buckhanna county jail, W. Va., hiding in a box car in the Erie railroad yard at Kent.

He placed the man in an auto when suddenly the man pulled a pistol from beneath his shirt and aimed it at the detective who seized the revolver. The man then seized Bonk's gun from its holster.

In the struggle the detective was shot in the thumb and beaten over the head with the revolver.

VAST REARMAMENT IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

(International News Service)

PRAGUE.—A record expenditure of six billion Czech crowns (more than $120,000,000) is being planned for the next three years by the Czech Republic for armaments.

The first installment of two billion crowns is to be secured by means of a public loan.

A net of strategic roads, with fortifications along the borders will be built while arms and ammunition supplies will also be greatly increased.

BAN NUDITY IN VIENNA THEATERS

(International News Service)

VIENNA—A strong detachment of the "Catholic Stormtroopers" a semi-military, armed, government organization, occupied recently a part of the Kaerntnerstrasse, Vienna's main thoroughfare, to protest against a signboard of a Vienna theater advertising the beauties of its scantily clad girls. They withdrew when the signboard was removed.

Next day the Vienna government-paper "Reichspost," indicated that nudity will not be tolerated by the authorities in Vienna theaters.

Stop Bolshevism Mussolini's Aim

Will Make Every Effort To Break Up United Front Against Fascism

NEUTRALITY MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 7.—"Stop Bolshevism" openly became the keynote of Premier Benito Mussolini's policy as he bent every effort today to break up a possible united front against Fascism from the red forces of Spain, France, and Russia.

Authoritative diplomatic quarters said that Italy has effectively assumed leadership in Europe's struggle to halt the common enemy of Italy, Germany, Austria, and other rightwing states.

Mussolini has done so, it was declared, by pointing out the difficulties involved in an air-tight neutrality program towards Spain, and by virtually refusing to participate in any accord to that end unless definite assurances are forthcoming from France—which cannot give them—that neutrality will be strictly respected by government and private interests alike.

In some quarters it was believed that Italy had made it virtually impossible for any neutrality agreement at all to be drawn up, this assuring the rightists victory in Spain, since the rebels can more easily be aided with arms and munitions than the leftist government.

Farmers Given Cheering News

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—Western Pennsylvania farmers were cheered today by Henry R. Eby, Allegheny county agricultural director, who said rains of the last few days had given a new "lease on life" to garden crops in the area.

The rainfall, Eby said, will prove a boon to farmers, and has assured survival of garden crops despite the long drought.

Beaver County Official Keeps Road Closed

Refuse To Allow Fallston Hill To Be Opened For Autos

DEMANDS STATE ACTION BE TAKEN

(International News Service)

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 7.—Adamant in his insistence that "death curve" on Fallston hill near here be closed to all traffic "until the highway department does something about it," District Attorney Robert E. McCreary of Beaver county today rejected a proposal the hill be opened to passenger automobiles.

McCreary ordered the stretch of highway closed this morning, a few hours before Bertram M. Bromley, 35, of Brentwood, Md., died in Beaver Valley General hospital of burns suffered in a crash on "death curve" yesterday, in which his wife and 12-year-old son were burned to death. A fourth member of the family, Bonita, 16, was recovering in the hospital.

An official of the department of highways phoned him shortly after closing of the road, McCreary said, asking that passenger cars be permitted to traverse the deep grade, with its "death trap" curve. His answer, the district attorney said, was:

"We might do that later, but I'll keep that road closed until the highway department does something about it."

McCreary said he agreed to a conference with highway officials, tentatively set for tomorrow.

Bullet Knocks Boy's Tooth Out

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—Here's one for the "Tall Story Club." . . .

While playing in front of his home here yesterday, 7-year-old Willy Trobendar felt "something go zip" in front of him, and then felt blood trickling down his chin.

Today Willy was minus a front tooth, and police were looking for the person or persons responsible for the stray shot which performed unneeded dentistry upon a scared little boy.

Americans haven't changed much. Their demand in 1776 wasn't more liberty but less taxes.

Another nice thing about grandparents is that you have somebody to blame when you spoil the kids.

Flood Of Bills Were Acted Upon During Session

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7—Legislative tasks that confronted Pennsylvania's lawmakers during the special session were disclosed today in a survey of bills introduced in the 14 weeks session.

A total of 163 bills were introduced in the house, and 45 in the senate, making an aggregate of 208. Bills signed by Gov. George H. Earle totaled 54, or about one-fourth of the measures introduced.

In contrast with this, the governor vetoed only three measures, the proposed extra fees for special license plates and two bills setting up vacation periods for firemen and policemen in Pittsburgh.

House resolutions introduced exclusive of concurrent resolutions totalled 89 of which 46 were adopted. There were 44 resolutions introduced in the upper chamber of which 32 were adopted.

MINCED HAM SANDWICHES

To one-half cup salad dressing add one teaspoon dry mustard, three tablespoons chopped pickle, one-fourth cup chopped green pepper, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Combine thoroughly, then stir in two cups of cooked ham, finely ground. Spread on buttered bread with lettuce.

How to get elected? Well, Senator Gore said: "I cannot consent to buy votes with the people's money." And he was defeated.

Try Spry — It won 3 million users in 3 months!

You'll be delighted, too—or DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK

USE the same recipes as before but use Spry, the new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening. You'll marvel at the difference! Cakes are so much lighter and more delicate—pastry flakier. Fried foods are crisper, tastier and as easy to digest as if baked or boiled. Spry has been tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau . . . Try it today at our risk!

Buy a can of Spry from your grocer. Give Spry every test in pies, cakes, biscuits, fried foods. If you don't find Spry the best shortening you ever used, write to Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass., stating briefly your reasons for not preferring Spry. Send your name and address and the strip of tin that the key takes off when you open the can. You will promptly receive back twice what you paid for Spry. This offer is limited to one can to a family.

Corn Crop Has Reached Crisis

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The corn crop reached its crisis today, with the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture economics saying indications point to:

1—A feed grain shortage, with supplies no larger, if as large, as in 1934.

2—A heavy slaughter of hogs and cattle this fall, resulting in a shortage of butcher animals next year.

3—Increased prices on both meats and livestocks for 1937.

The U. S. crop reporting board will estimate the size of the crop Monday, based on conditions as of August 1, but the continued drought since August 1 will make that report somewhat out of line.

A sharp advance in prices is expected toward the end of the year, "and prices of well finished cattle next spring are likely to be at a much higher level than in the first half of this year," the bureau said, resulting in higher prices for the better grades of beef.

STOLE COURT HOUSE PHONE AND COINS

(International News Service)

COLUMBIA, Tenn.—Thieves have no respect for the local temple of justice.

They proved this recently when they broke into the Maury county courthouse here and stripped the telephone pay station just outside the sheriff's office.

To flaunt their "meanie" act before the law, they were not content with taking the nickels and dimes in the pay station hello-piece.

They stole the telephone as well!

Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, is now owned by the Mount Vernon Ladies' association. The area of the estate at one time consisted of 8,000 acres, stretched along the river for 10 miles and maintained 300 field laborers and servants. Today the estate covers 470 acres.

Wounded Husband Writes New Will

Arthur E. Reinhardt, Shot By Wife, Will Leave His Widow Everything

(International News Service)

LARCHMONT, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Arthur E. Reinhardt, 42-year-old wealthy head of an ice company, hovered between life and death today after signing a new will in which he leaves everything to the wife who allegedly shot him.

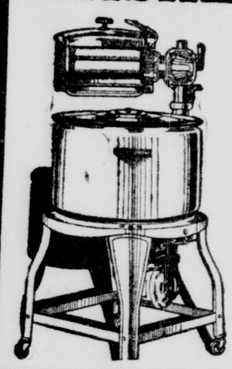

Mrs. Anita Reinhardt, 36, admitted to the police, after several conflicting stories blaming a "shadow burglar," that she accidentally shot her husband while attempting suicide in a fit of melancholia.

Assistant Prosecutor Thomas Scoble, Jr., in charge of the investigation, today reiterated belief no crime was intended or committed and that the shooting was wholely accidental.

Last night Reinhardt summoned lawyers to his bed in New Rochelle hospital and directed that a new will be drawn up, leaving his entire estate to his wife. Reinhardt insisted the shooting was an accident.

Hollywood Agog Over 'Love Life' Of Mary Astor

Who Is No I Glamor Man "In Love Life" Of Petite Movie Actress

CASE WILL BE RESUMED MONDAY

By FRED J. WALKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1936, By International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7—That frantic questionn agitating Hollywood's film colony—who's the No. 1 man of glamorous Mary Astor's "charm ratings," was answered today.

And leading the field, surprisingly enough, was no rapturously attractive film star or suave producer. In fact he's not an outstandingly handsome man at all!

He's a famous Los Angeles professional man, with wildly flying hair and a merry twinkle in his eyes, it was learned exclusively by International News Service.

Holding second "charm rated" place in the sultry, "utterly frank" diary of the auburn-haired star is George S. Kaufman, famous New York and Hollywood playwright.

Third is John Barrymore.

Will Offer Diary

The diary comprises the dynamite laden potential exhibit in Miss Astor's fight to regain custody of her daughter from Dr. Franklin Thorpe, who obtained an uncontested divorce last year. It is to be offered in evidence by Dr. Thorpe Monday when the sensational trial is resumed.

This man who is "tops" in the love marathon, swept into a commanding lead not long ago, passing Kaufman in a sprint with Barymore, winded and fighting off the closing challenge of the field!

The "field" contains internationally famous masculine film stars, whose romantic roles have inspired heart murmurs in millions of women.

Gable Doesn't Rate

And, by the way, Clark Gable's out....mentioned only incidentally. Clark's a close friend of Dr. Thorpe.

However, although the sleek hair-ed-broad-chested "he men" of Hollywood may look lovely from a distance, a critical point score shows up their weaknesses, according to the diary.

Barrymore himself, with what his attorney, Aaron Sapiro swears is a bad heart, while admitting he's a lawyer and no heart specialist, nevertheless measures up as a great all-around contender.

Shadowy Figures

Moving delicately into this chronicle of the "inside" goings on of Hollywood are shadowy figures met casually and commented on lightly by Hollywood's feminine pepys.

One such person might be George Oppenheimer, otherwise unidentified whose dinner-jacketed figure, beside Paris-gowned Miss Astor, appeared in a photograph received in the mail today by superior judge Goodwin J. Knight, the trial judge.

Which George?

Judge Knight said the letter, postmarked, "Hicksville, La.," suggested: "Maybe this is the mysterious George?" The mysterious "George," however, already has been identified as Kaufman, who is still hiding out "somewhere in Hollywood" awaiting a call to the witness stand.

Joseph Anderson, attorney for Dr. Thorpe, said today he proposed to ask Miss Astor when he resumes cross-examination of her Monday, whether she knows George Oppenheimer, how well she knows him and so forth.

News Briefs From City Hall

Business-house attaches who have charge of closing doors apparently are not very careful, approximately a half dozen doors having been found open last night by patrolmen. One business-house door was found open on two consecutive nights, according to the police

Some bananas left in front of a store at 329 East Long avenue last night were stolen, according to Patrolman Richard Cooper.

Al Bauman reported to police last night that his truck was robbed of some articles after being parked near a gasoline station on East Washington street.

Police received a report yesterday that shrubbery in an East Washington street yard extended over the sidewalk and was a nuisance to pedestrians.

Second floor of the city building annex will be used as a distribution center for garments made by the WPA sewing class. The room now is being put in condition, according to city hall attaches.

Jack Murdock, Cascade street, reported to police last night that someone had taken $24.00 from his person while he was in a hotel.

Dusting tools and a field book were stolen from the auto of Aaron Scott, Beckford street, when it was parked in Croton avenue, he told police.

Rebel Gunboat Reported Afire

Terrific Bombardment Is Opened By Loyalist Battleship

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 7.—Hurling fire and destruction into the city, and setting the rebel gunboat Eduardo Dato afire in the harbor, the loyalist battleship Jaime Primero, pride of the Spanish navy, today opened a terrific bombardment of Algeciras, insurgent stronghold and chief landing port for reinforcements from Morocco.

The Dato was covered completely with flames which were clearly seen from here. Explosions resulting from the bombardment were heard plainly.

The Jaime's shells hit Spanish batteries mounted near Tarifa and Getares Bay. More than ten casualties were reported at Algeciras, where a quantity of cork stored on a wharf was set afire.

After raining shells on Cueta, Morocco, the 15,452-ton warship steamed across the straits of Gibraltar, shelled Carnero Point in her stride, and fought a running battle witn shore batteries as she rounded into the bay of Gibraltar.

Within easy reach of the booming rebel guns, the Jaime Primero cooly proceeded to send shells flying into Algeciras, starting several fires.

Fire from the rebel shore guns fell close to the Dutch liner Dempo as she steamed through the straits bound for England.

One report here said the Jaime I was hit by a rebel shell, taking water. Members of the crew manned the pumps and kept her afloat.

Hendaye, Aug. 7.—The Spanish rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera today recommenced bombardment of Gijon.

Spanish loyalists in Gijon had threatened to shoot 2,500 Fascist hostages if the bombardment was resumed.

Italian Day On August 15

Outdoor Entertainment And Bazaar On Maitland And South Jefferson Streets

Plans are coming along nicely for the fourth annual Italian Day celebration on August 15, the Rev. Fr. Anuskiewicz, assistant pastor of the St. Vitus church, who is in charge of activities, announced today.

From Monday, August 10, until Friday evening, August 14, an outdoor celebration and bazaar will take place on South Jefferson and Maitland streets. Elaborate arrangements are under way for the coming event which promises to be the biggest in the history of New Castle Italian-American residents. The streets will be attractively illuminated with several hundred lights and a variety of attractive stands.

Cascade Park has again been selected as the place for the fourth observance of Italian Day, Rev. Fr Anuskiewicz stated. Several thousand persons are expected to attend the program arranged at the park on Saturday, August 15.

Autos Collide On Moravia Street

Automobiles driven by J. Hruscienski, New Kensington, and Mrs. Harry Watkins, 1015 South Mill street, collided at Moravia and Reiber streets at 11 p. m. last night, according to reports made to the city police. A male occupant of the New Kensington man's car sustained an arm injury. His name was not made known to the police, according to the records.

Mrs. Watkins' version of the accident said she was driving north on Moravia street and Hruscienski, who is staying at 9 Terrace avenue, was driving south and made a left turn in front of her car at Reiber street. His version said Mrs. Watkins car was traveling fast. Both cars were damaged.

The first sign of age is not wrinkles but the inability to give a darn about other people.

CRIPPLE RESCUES DROWNING MAN AT RISK OF OWN LIFE

(International News Service)

LONDON.—Although crippled by war wounds and rheumatic fever, Murdoch MacLeod of Stornaway, Scotland, dived fully clothed into Stornaway harbor to rescue a young man.

Plunging from the sea wall, he brought the drowning man through a stormy sea to shore.

Three years ago MacLeod was a helpless invalid.

By indomitable courage, he was able to get about and establish a little business.

One of his doctor's recommendations was that he should not get wet.

DIVORCE EPIDEMIC IN NAZI GERMANY

(International News Service)

BERLIN — Germany has been struck by a veritable divorce epidemic.

According to the latest available statistics for 1934, no less than 54,402 divorces were granted in Germany. This figure, which does not include the Saar territory, represents a new record since 1921. It surpasses the total of divorces in 1921 by twelve percent and is about twent-eight percent higher than the average total divorces in the years between 1921 and 1934.

The new flood of divorces is attributed to the "aryan laws" and the sterlization laws, which prompted many people to file divorce suits which under the old laws would have been rejected.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION REPORT

Diana, registered guernsey cow in the herd of Lauren Thompson, Wilmington Township, led the Lawrence County Association in butter production for the month of July. According to reports made by H. Russel Smith, tester, this cow produced 55.9 pounds of butter fat during the month. There were four other cows in the herds of Hyllmede's farms, Beaver County; J. P. Smith, Wilmington Township; J. A. Boak and Sons, Slippery Rock Township; Gilkey & Wright, North Beaver Township, by producing over the average during the month.

The herd of W. H. McCulloch, Big Beaver Township, led all herds in the Association in milk production during the month. The herd of Arnold Brothers of Beaver County and Gilkey and Wright have held second and third in high milk production.

The Lawrence County Association will complete the testing year August 31 and will reorganize for another year. All the dairymen interested in becoming affiliated with the Cow Testing Association are asked to report to the Agricultural Extension Office.

4-H CLUB CAMP

Forty boys, members of the 4-H Club in Lawrence, Mercer and Butler Counties will register for the annual 4-H Club Camp which will be held August 17 to 21. The camp will be held at the Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. Camp site.

In addition to the customary camp life, the boys registering for camp will be instructed in the various phases of agricultural and rural life. Other club members who have not registered for camp, and desire to do so should report to the Agricultural Extension Office.

MARKET HENS WHICH HAVE CEASED LAYING

Pennsylvania, ranking among the leading states in number of towns of 10,000 population or more, provides an excellent outlet for the orderly marketing of hens as they become unprofitable producers of eggs.

Many farm flock owners "attend market" regularly. These people, over a period of years, have developed an outlet for poultry and other products of the farm. There is, therefore, a steady demand throughout the year for birds that may be going out of production or have recently stopped laying.

A hen in satisfactory production has a mass of egg yolks that will fill a teacup. These egg yolks, several of which are fully developed, cause the abdomen to expand like a balloon. Consequently, the pubiccor pelvic bones are relatively widespread. Furthermore the distance from the pubic bones to the keel bone is relatively deep.

Another indication of activity of the egg machinery is shown by the large comb and wattles.

Birds that have stopped laying have egg yolks that would hardly fill a spoon. Consequently, the ends of the pubic bones tend to come together, the spread from the pubic bones to the keel bone becomes less and the comb shrinks and becomes dull and dry.

The non-producers may be picked out of the flock at night with reasonable accuracy. A flashlight will furnish enough light to spot those birds that have ceased to be profitable.

STUDY FAMILY BEFORE SELECTING HERD SIRE

A recent study on the results of breeding dairy cattle in more than 300 Pennsylvanian herds, where continuous records of milk production have been kept, shows that only a very small proportion of the sires in use have increased the milk-producing ability of their daughters over the dams of the daughters.

This is especially true in herds where the butterfat average is more than 300 pounds a cow. This fact emphasizes the extreme importance of a very careful selection of the dairy sire. The trend in transmission of milking qualities by a sire to his daughters seems to be toward the average of the production of the families from which he comes rather than toward the individual production record of his dam. It is thus apparent that in selecting a sire the milk and butterfat records of all closely related animals should be studied.

The investigation should always include the production records of sisters and half-sisters of the sire in question and records of production of sisters and half-sisters of both his sire and dam. Similar family records of production in previous generations should also be given consideration but the value, or influence, of these records decreases rapidly with each previous generation.

Information regarding the milking inheritance of sires as suggested above is available only in herds where continuous records have been kept on all cows over a number of years. Cow testing association records and breed herd test records, if continuously kept, provide a good basis of information for those in search of a sire. Private herd tests and official testing also give helpful information.

Some good sires in use are from herds where continuous records in production were not kept, but the hazard in sire selection can be largely eliminated through a careful study of milking or productive inheritance.

Other factors that should have careful consideration are type or individual appearance and a clean bill of health.

FIGURES SHOW RAPID GAINS BEST FOR PIGS

Rapid gains are important in the first few weeks of the little pig's life.

Young animals make more efficient use of feed than older ones. Early gains, therefore, are profitable. Large size at an early age makes possible rapid and profitable gains from weaning to market age.

These points are illustrated in the following figures. Pigs weighing 11 pounds each at four weeks of age gained 161 pounds from then until they were 180 days old. Pigs averaging from 11 to 16½ pounds gained 181 pounds each. Pigs weighing more than 16½ pounds made average gains of 197 pounds.

To get these early gains, little pigs should be encouraged to eat grain as soon as possible. They usually will nibble at shelled corn when 2 or 3 weeks old, and soon after that they will eat from the trough or self-feeder with the sows.

Maximum income from the brood sow can be obtained by not weaning the pigs until they are 8 to 10 weeks old. Running on the pasture helps to reduce feed costs but the pigs should be full-fed on grain also to get rapid and profitable gains.

Shenango Pottery Picnic Saturday

Fair and warmer is the weather promised for Saturday, August 8, and this is the last thing needed to guarantee the success of the picnic of the employes of the Shenango Pottery. The picnic will be held in Idora Park, Youngstown.

For several weeks a general committee consisting of George Crawford, Julian Miller, Victor Sechens, Jack Collett and Allen Cartwright have been busy working on the program, the sports events, the prizes and the dozen and one other things needed to make a picnic the success it should be.

Bussess will leave at ten o'clock Saturday morning bound for Youngstown, although hundreds of the employes will travel in their own cars.

By noon Saturday the only people left in the plant will be watchmen and men responsible for the boilers.

On Court House Hill

Will of the late Cornelius J. Miller has been probated at the register and recorder's office. To a granddaughter, Cora Elizabeth Ranney, decedent leaves $1,000. The remainder of his estate goes to his daughter, Cora Esther Miller, who is also named as executrix.

Mrs. Lillie Sidney, through Oliver P. Brown, agent, has filed an amicable action in ejectment at the prothonotary's office against Mrs. Margaret Butler and Martin Butler to secure possession of a property located at 739 Croton avenue, on which the rent is alleged to be in arrears.

Alex M. Shulansky has asked for viewers to assess the damages to his property by reason of improvements to West State street on the Youngstown hill, where the road was widened to a three lane traffic highway. Shulansky says that he owns two lots of fifty foot each and that he has lost seven inches of ground. He also claims that by reason of the raising of the grade the water from his cellar will not drain out to the gutter, and two posts in front of his storeroom have been rendered insecure. The court has appointed Attorney J. Roy Mercer, T. B. Wagner and Alex Main, as viewers.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna has received the June report of non-farm real estate foreclosures as compiled by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The United States is divided into twelve districts, in which there were 15,782 foreclosures during the month, which is twenty-four per cent less than in the same districts last year. It is estimated that about twenty per cent of the non-farm foreclosures are on commercial properties and the balance on dwellings.

Prothonotary John A. Edgar has received from the Department of Revenue at Harrisburg, a request that he forward to the department a list of any judgments obtained in automobile damage cases, where the damage exceeded $200, and which have not been paid within fifteen days from the date of filing.

It is set forth that the act of May 15, 1933, requires that the department receive copies of any unsatisfied judgments after January 1, 1934. The law further provides that where the judgments have not been satisfied within fifteen days there is to be a suspension of both the operating and registration privileges of the person against whom the judgment has been obtained.

Mr. Edgar has been supplied with blanks on which reports are to be made. They are to contain the name of the person against whom the judgment has been entered with the amount of the same, the operator's license number, his registration number, date of the accident, and name of the plaintiff. Mr. Edgar is making a search of the records and will furnish the required information.

During the past few weeks a state deputy has been working with Sealer of Weights and Measures James M. Rea, in connection with the testing of scales. It has been found by the department that sealers have been working at a disadvantage in testing heavy duty scales, as they do not have the apparatus necessary to make proper tests.

The state has now purchased two trucks of about 35,000 pounds capacity with which to make tests. These trucks have been specially constructed and cost between seven and eight thousand dollars. With them the largest heavy duty scales can be accurately tested. One of the trucks is to operate in the eastern part of the state and the other in the western.

The deputy who has been working with Rea is now on vacation in Canada, but as soon as he returns he expects to get one of the trucks with which to test scales in Lawrence county. According to Mr. Rea a heavy duty scale may weight allright up to two or three tons, but they are often found to be imperfect for weighing heavier loads. All the heavy duty scales in the city and county which include the scales weighing coal and other heavy materials, will be tested with the big truck when it arrives.

Mr. Rea has been working in the Ellwood City district recently. He has made one inspection over the entire city and county and will start soon on another. It is necessary to keep making tests of scales all the time as they are liable to get out of order. One scale was condemned last week.

Mr. Rea recently officiated as weighmaster at the Soap Box Derby in Ellwood City, where he weighed 97 of the entrants.

My New York By James Aswell

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Small Tales, No. 599: Gus lived in a bustling, healthy, typical small town in one of the Middle Atlantic states. All his life he had read everything he could lay hands on about New York; he knew the age, previous condition of servitude and taste in neckties of every chatter writer spawned by "Gotham," as he liked to refer to the village on a rock.

"Some day," Gus used to boast, "I'm going to get out of this hick town. I'm going to New York to live, where everything is bigger and better."

Finally, when Gus was 40, he got his chance. He got a job in New York, through the friend of a friend—as barker for a bus-trip to Greenwich Village, Chinatown and the Bowery. The idea was that Gus had the slant, the lingo and the hominess of the average visitor to New York and he would be a good hand at winning the interest and patronage of the casual stroller.

The bus line thought it would be a good idea, incidentally, to get an American to ballyhoo American sights. So many of the spielers have such heavy foreign accents passersby can't understand them.

Gus did very nicely at his job. He set no records, but he had a deep, beguiling voice and an enthusiasm for everything in New York that was contagious. He was in paradise, there is the heart of Times Square, with the song of the auto horns, the restless patter of ten million feet, in his ears nine and ten hours a day. He became a New Yorker overnight, a first-class expert on the town.

Of course, he became a bit snobbish toward those among whom he had been raised. He pitied them. "Waisting away out there in the sticks," as he phrased it. When his aunt came to New York, on a prodigal excursion, he gave her some of his valuable time, but he couldn't avoid being a bit patronizing. After all, as a New Yorker, you couldn't expect him to be too democratic with small town people, even his relatives.

He was, however, generous enough to escort her along Broadway one night, calling out greetings to the denizens of the Rialto, whom he knew. He was a little self-conscious, though, walking with his aunt: she was panicky and awkward crossing streets in traffic, and Gus had to steer her among the hurtling cars and busses. Gus was an artful dodger; as a New Yorker you had to be.

Well, the years trickled on and although Gus had never been able to save any money since he came to New York, he never regretted the step. He held a number of jobs after the first year or two as barker. He sold novelties on street-corners, he drove a taxi, he was a barman in a night club for four months. This was the life! He was never bored for a moment and he was never far from Longacre Square.

His contempt for small-towners now was boundless. He got so he could spot them—or thought he could—in the passing throng. "Look at those corn-fed babies," he would call out to a pal as they loitered in front of the Palace, "I'll bet they come from some jerkwater town twenty miles from a railroad."

Actually, the people Gus picked to jeer at were more often than not residents of the upper Bronx, or maybe Hester Street or Jackson Heights, Long Island. But he never knew that and if the well-dressed women he ogled and admired as typical New Yorkers were only in town for the week end on vacation from their homes in Kansas or Ohio or Nebraska, he was none the wiser.

At last Gus had to go home to the town where he had spent his early years. His father had died and he had to go and clean up the business of the small estate.

As Gus strolled up the main thoroughfare of the bustling, healthy small town—which happened to be the county seat—he sighed a self-satisfied sigh. "Lord, I am glad I don't have to stay in this burg. This—flagstop town!"

He was so engrossed in his thoughts as he crossed an intersection that he stepped directly in the path of a shiny new car, going fast.

When a policeman supervised the removal of Gus from the street, he remarked: "These rubes that come into town from the sticks on Saturday night! No wonder they get killed. You can see by this poor fellow's flashy clothes that he ain't used to city traffic."

CANADIAN SOLDIERS INVADE CLEVELAND

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7.—Lake cities are waging their annual defense against an invading army of millions of Canadian soldiers.

However, the invading army is not armed with machine guns, tanks or heavy artillery. As a matter of fact, the invaders are not armed at all. And the weapons of the defense consist chiefly of brooms and shovels rather than rifles and bayonets.

The Canadian soldiers are a specie of the may fly and their chief offense is dying. They die by the millions and the sidewalks and streets of the invaded cities are littered with squashy decaying bodies that exude a highly indelicate odor.

The Canadian soldier spends the greater part of his life on the floor of the lake and his principal purpose in life is to sate voracious appetites of Lake Erie's fresh water fish.

At the age of three years the larvae sprout wings and rise to the surface. Depending on the direction of the wind, he is wafted to the Ohio shore where he is known as the "Canadian soldier", or to Canada where the indignant inhabitants retaliate by dubbing him a "Yankee soldier".

Leadership Of Roosevelt Is Attacked

Jeffersonian Democrats From 22 States Are Convening In Detroit

SAVE CONSTITUTION KEYNOTE OF EVENT

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—Under the keynote "Preserve the Constitution," prominent Jeffersonian Democrats from 22 states assemble here today to launch a co-ordinated revolt against President Franklin D. Roosevelt's leadership of the party and his re-election.

Former U. S. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who called the "Constitutional Conference," expressed its keynote in 35 words. He said:

"My purpose is to do what I can to preserve the constitution of the United States, insure the independence of our courts, and stop the wasting of the substance of the American people."

The meeting may continue into the night and tomorrow, Sterling E. Edmunds, prominent St. Louis Democrat and co-sponsor of the conference with Reed, said.

Charges "Alien Doctrines"

He said the conferees feel they were "men without a party" since President Roosevelt became nominal, national leader of the Democratic party. In effect, he accused Roosevelt of instilling "alien doctrines" in party principles and of disregarding the constitution.

The conference, Edmunds said, had no set program but it was expected to do one of three things. They were:

1. Place a ticket of Jeffersonian Democrats in the field with Reed as presidential candidate.
2. Organize constitutional Democrats behind the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Landon of Kansas, the Republican presidential nominee, or,
3. Start a movement for constitutional Democrats to stay away from the polls to boycott Roosevelt.

CMTC Boys Returning From Eastern Camps

Lawrence County boys who have been attending CMTC camps in the three camps located in the Washington-Baltimore area. Some of the boys are already home while others are spending a few days sight seeing in and around the national capitol.

One New Castle boy, Joe Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fisher, of 216 North Jefferson street, who was stationed at Fort George Meade was one of the 20 boys out of 3,000 who were called out in front of the grand review and presented with sharpshooters medals. Mr. Fisher also received the blue ribbon in the swimming and diving contest.

Mr. Farley need not worry about party harmony. Anybody feels harmonious when his stomach is full.

But if this is your country, why growl when your money is spent to improve it?

7 KILLED IN HEAD-ON AUTO CRASH

Woman Is Found Guilty By Jury In Conspiracy

Jury Says Mrs. Mary Vann, 40, Hired Negroes To Wreck Passenger Train

(International News Service)

MILTON, Fla., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Mary Vann, 40-year-old grandmother, today was found guilty by a jury of accessory in the alleged attempt of two negroes to wreck a passenger train on which the woman's 70-year-old husband, L. W. Vann, was engineer.

The two negroes, Allen Langston, 70, and Allan Finney, 16, previously had pleaded guilty in the case.

The state charged that Mrs. Vann had hired the negroes to pull spikes from the rails on the track over which her husband's train was due to pass. To substantiate the charges the state produced testimony intended to show that Mrs. Vann was in love with Earl Travis, 30-year-old carpenter.

TEACHING FALSE HISTORY SEEN AS MENACE TO PEACE

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Teaching false history is a menace to world peace and might be a major cause of war in the next generation, declared Viscount Sankey, former Lord Chancellor, in an address to the Anglo-American conference of historians meeting here.

"There is no more useful task than the proper teaching of fair and accurate history," said Lord Sankey, "but there is no more dangerous weapon in the hands of a nation than false and one-sided teaching.

"A people which allows its rising generation to be taught history which merely exalts its own annals and holds up to hatred, ridicule contempt the annals of another country is creating a dangerous situation for the world."

"An advocate never addresses a jury of the young. The historian frequently has to write for them. The proper teaching of history is one of the essentials for peace in the next generation."

MA BEAVER PUTS YOUNG ON GUARD

RAYMOND, Wash., Aug. 7.—State Game Protector Jack Hynes attended school out of season when he came across a mother beaver teaching her three small children the art of fleeing from danger.

Hynes was attracted to the scene by a sharp, slapping noise. He crept to the river bank and saw the mother beaver schooling her young.

As the baby beavers played about in the water, the mother suddenly would slap the surface with her broad tail. Immediately, Hynes said, the young would duck for cover. Hynes watched the lessons for several minutes before showing himself to the mother beaver and giving her a chance to utilize her teachings.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Parties Differ As Well As Men

Major Parties Have Changed Attitudes And Sides On Many Questions Observers Find

YOUTHS HAVE OWN IDEAS TOO

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—This year's election result would be easier to guess on if one knew the correct answers to two questions:

1. How large a proportion of the voters realize that the major parties of today to a great extent have traded sides in regards to states' rights and centralization?

2. Has the trend of events transformed the United States from a very conservative into a somewhat radical country?

We don't know yet what these two answers are, however.

TRANSFORMED

The Roosevelt administration is not entirely Hamiltonian, but it is about 75 per cent so. Contrariwise, Republicanism has taken on approximately a 75 per cent tinge of Jeffersonianism.

Folk like ex-Senator James A. Reed, Al Smith, Henry Breckinridge and ex-Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts understand this, and, because they were Democrats, now virtually are Republicans. Folk like Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture Harold L. Ickes and Henry A. Wallace, also understand it, and, because they were Republicans, now virtually are Democrats. It is perfectly logical.

But has the idea that the transformation has occurred had time to enfilterate into the noodles of the mass of voters?

* * *

SOUTH REMAINS DEMOCRATIC

Or will they continue to vote mere party labels for at least another election?

The Democrats are gambling that the south, as nothing but a matter of habit, will go solidly Democratic, though Republican (as of the present writing) in principle. And probably it is good betting.

On the opposite hand, there is normally Republican territory that the G. O. P. expects to carry simply because it is "normally" Republican, though now Democratic —if it wants to remain Republican. Take my own old home state of Iowa. For generations, until 1932, it always went Republican in national elections. Its interests were Democratic (in the old days), but it went Republican because it was settled largely by Union soldiers just after the Civil War. Even when it finally went Democratic I think it did so reluctantly, because it was starved into it. I am sure that it still, sentimentally, is for the G. O. P. label.

* * *

YOUTH DECIDES FOR SELF

In short, it is a confusing situation.

In my day a vote was cast as the voter's father cast his. The boys and girls of 1936 evidently plan to do their own deciding. I have a rising family of my own, and I consult it for information. I shall say that my family and its company are independent and, considering the jam in which their progenitors have landed them, I can't blame them.

But are there enough of them, coming of age at the next election, to make a dent?

That is problematic.

* * *

TURNING RADICAL?

Question No. 2!:

From being one of the most conservative countries in the world, has the United States turned radical?

It was conservative when it had plenty of natural resources, to be gobbled by prospectors. Those who already had done the gobbling did not want to be taxed on what they had gobbled. Prospective gobblers did not want to be taxed on their prospective gobblings.

"No interference with or burden on gobblery," was their watchword.

Now that the gobbling has been effected, the gobblers want to keep what they have got and be levied on as lightly as possible; others want them to bear the proportion that they have gobbled—more, too, maybe.

ON PAR WITH EUROPE

Sir Wilmott Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times, is a fair commentator—able and disinterested.

"Economic stress," he says, "has been accumulating in Europe for centuries. In this country it has been accumulating only for a few generations, but it has accumulated so fast in the present day United States that, here, we are on a par with Europe.

"This, in effect, is an old world country."

Sees Need For More Stringent Industrial Laws

Survey Reveals Many Workers Exposed To Occupational Hazards

HARRISBURG—Compilation of reports of a survey of occupational disease hazards in 16,000 Pennsylvania industrial plants reveals the necessity for more stringent regulations to protect workers as well as for a law to provide compensation for diseases suffered because of the work being done, Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore said today.

His statement was based upon a report from the Works Progress Administration group that for months has been studying the occupational disease problems as a Labor and Industry project, this latest report dealing with sanitary conditions in Pennsylvania firms.

The first report made in April showed that approximately 11½ per cent of the workers of the State are exposed to the danger of silicosis. Future reports, according to Dr. William B. Fulton of the Bureau of Industrial Hygiene and of George H. Orth, superintendent of the project, will deal with potential industrial disease hazards other than those from silica and allied nonmetallic dusts.

FIX TENTING FEES IN STATE FORESTS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—In order to facilitate outdoor camping in State Forests the State Department of Forests and Waters this week installed a system of tenting fees, which is expected to eliminate a great deal of congestion in the State's outdoor areas and enable more people to take advantage of this form of recreation.

Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters said today that the tenting fee in State forest areas would be $1.50 per week, after the first 48 hours. There will be no charge for the first two days.

This is an extremely low charge and represents less than twenty-five cents a day. The camper will receive in return: firewood, a tenting space 40x40, and the other usual accommodations such as garbage disposal, parking, etc.

Says Electoral College Unfair

Representative Lea Will Fight For Constitutional Amendment Changing Law

SAYS PRESENT LAW IS ARCHAIC

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Holding that the present method of selecting presidents is archaic and unfair, Representative Clarence Lea (D) of California is planning a fight in the next Congress for a constitutional amendment providing a new method.

A change is especially important with the injection of the Lemke-O'Brien-Coughlin Union party into the field, and the prediction of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin that a deadlock will result and the next president will be chosen by the House of Representatives, Lea says:

He proposes to give fractional electoral votes in the various states for presidential candidates, a modification of the direct-vote-for-president plan agitated for many years.

Under the present system, Lea points out, a candidate who gets a bare plurality in a state gets the entire electoral vote. The vote of those supporting a losing candidate counts for nothing.

"Novel results frequently happen from this rule," said Lea. "In 1912 Mr. Wilson, with only 42 per cent of the popular vote, received 82 per cent of the electoral votes.

"Suppose two candidates are running for president. The electors representing one candidate receive a majority of 5,0000 in the state of New York, with its 4,500,000 votes, and the electors representing the opposing candidate receive a 5,000 majority in the state of Nevada, with its three electoral votes.

"Thus the total vote for the two candidates would be exactly equal in those two states, but in the electoral college the man who carried New York would have 47 electoral votes and the other candidate who carried Nevada would have three. Although over 2,000,000 voters in New York voted for the minority candidate, he would receive no electoral votes whatever from New York.

"In each of the last two presidential elections over 38 per cent of all the popular votes for President, representing probably 15,000,000 people, had no representation whatever in the electoral college."

Should the 1936 election be thrown into the House of Representatives, says Lea, the inequality in the present system would only be continued.

"The method of selection in the House is crude and archaic," he says. "Each state has but one vote A majority is necessary to elect New York, with 13,000,000 people, has no more votes than a state with 400,000. The majority of the representatives from each state determine how the vote of that state be cast. If there is a tie vote, the state has no vote. Thus it might easily happen that the party which carried the country by a very substantial plurality would have only a minority of the votes in the House of Representatives and be unable to elect its candidate."

Electoral colleges have failed three times in history to name the presidential candidate. In 1800 and 1824 the election was thrown into the House of Representatives. In the famous Hayes-Tilden contest of 1876 an electoral commission was created.

City Pays Street For Services

Council convened in the city building Thursday and voted $82.56 to John Z. Street, as payment for his services during the illness and assistance to Glenn R. Throop, city engineer.

Street has been assigned by the WPA for some time to the city engineer's office and when Throop was ill, before and after a stay in the hospital. Street performed whatever duties he could, Councilman B. F Butler stated.

It was pointed out also that on many occasions he has worked overtime to benefit the city and council passed Butler's motion believing that Street was entitled to the money.

England could be a great power still, but Alas! a nation is no stronger than the man who bosses it.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WOMAN FINDS WAY

A few years ago a young woman who had been teaching several years and had given up her job to come home to take care of her aged parents wrote me, telling of how these old folk, particularly her father, were making her life miserable. I outlined for her a program. From her later letter to me, I assume she followed it, in principle, and was finding herself.

Several months ago I printed a letter in this column of another young woman desperately tied to several members of her family. The former young woman wroet me the following as part of a letter to send on to the latter.

"My Dear Friend: I am saying this, because we have a background in which there are certain points of resemblance, as you will see. I am a woman of 38 who has recently become unable to carry on my profession (teaching), and for several years have lived with my elderly parents. I know your feeling of being bound and forced to do things because people will be angry or hurt if you don't. And hurting people hurts us so much we'd rather please them. But I made up my mind some time ago about certain things and am increasingly successful in carrying out my conclusion. Briefly they are these

"1. I am just as important as anyone else, my personality just as valuable, and I'm not going to let people make me something I'm not if I can help it.

"2. If anyone is going to be hurt, it's no more than fair that all the hurt doesn't come to me. I won't hurt anyone deliberately, but I won't let them hurt me unnecessarily.

Get Along Without Her.

"3. If I died suddenly, every one would get along without me seven days a week. Therefore they can get along without me one afternoon. I've found it wiser not to announce plans far ahead, unless I do it so far ahead that everyone gets used to the idea. My family used to think they had a right to ask me to do anything for them at a minute's notice, dropping all my own plans. I've gotten them to the point where they ask ahead of time. The worst of it is that no one really appreciates what is to be picked up without the asking.

"4. About reading and scrapbooks. I know all about that. It nearly killed me, but I brought out my scrapbooks and clippings and worked at them—and 'how the heathen raged'. Waste of time! Nonsense! What use! Well, you know it all. But I kept on unseeing and unhearing, and now my scrapbooks are taken for granted. By the way, be sure those clippings don't fly around. Tuck 'em into a box quick. And as for reading, just read—you probably won't know much that you've read the first few times, but you'll gradually get them accustomed to seeing you with a book.

Dam Stabilizes Volume Of River

Water Is Being Released From Pymatuning To Keep Stream Level

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7. — To maintain water flow in the Shenango river at Sharon and New Castle, from seventy to ninety million gallons of water per day is being released from the Pymatuning reservoir, Crawford county, Charles E. Ryder, chief engineer of the Department of Forests and Waters, announced.

Sufficient water will be released each day from the huge reservoir until such a time when the flow of the stream will again become normal. The huge reservoir was constructed as a flood control measure and to control the water supply of the important industrial valley along the Shenango river.

The dam undoubtedly was of great benefit during the March floods, by retaining the abnormal flow of water which ordinarily would have done terrific damage to the communities along the course of this stream, department officials said.

BEST REMEDY FOR Bladder Weakness

Thompson's Barosma Tablets are the very best remedy I have ever tried in my case of bladder weakness. I can never say too much for them. I had suffered many years before taking them," writes R. L. Hurd, 991 Superior St., Detroit.

The kidneys are seldom free from poisons. Clean them out and backache, sideache, and bladder trouble go. The kidneys are the great filters of the blood. If the kidneys are clogged you should clean them out at once with Thompson's Barosma Tablets and not allow the poison to pass into the system.

To Make Cost Agreement On Airport Materials

During council session at the city building Thursday, Solicitor William D. Cobau was instructed to confer with Lawrence county commissioners relative to an agreement by which the county is expected to join in payment for materials and equipment in connection with the cost of an airport. The sponsor's share was given as $11,000 according to City Engineer Glenn R. Throop. Engineering services by the city and tools and equipment now owned by the city accounted for considerable of this sum. The city believes the county's share should be about $4,000.

The current issue carries pictures of the bronze bust of William Penn unveiled on May 28 in the Hall of Fame together with views of the interior and exterior of the Hall of Fame and an article describing Penn's selection and listing the names of the 72 immortals in the colonnade.

"PITCHER PLANT" DEVOURS INSECTS

(International News Service)

EUGENE, Ore.— The "pitcher" plant" which "eats" insects has been utilized by Lane county residents to eliminate the annual earwig pestilence in this section.

The plant attracts flies, bees, earwigs, and other insects with a sweet nectar. When the insect enters the large stem, it falls into liquid gathered at the bottom. A plant form of "digestion" follows which supplies the nitrogen required to sustain life in the pitcher plant.

Residents of this section cultivate the plants which are found in sphagnum bogs along the Oregon coast.

Johnny Mize, Star Rookie

Cardinal Rookie First Baseman Is Burning Up National League, Is Big Fellow

INDIANS LOSE TO TIGER ROOK

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Another Georgia peach is cutting capers in the major leagues.

Shift to Chicago and pick out of the St. Louis Cardinal lineup a young gent named Johnny Mize and remember him for possible world series reference. He is a product of the pine-scented environs of Demarest, Ga., stands 6 feet-2 and weighs 210.

Big and Strong

He is 23, big and strong and willing, the kind that will pull the plough awhile, when the sun begins to bear down, so the mule can get some rest in the shade. But he also can play baseball.

He gravitated from Georgia to the Cardinal farm at Rochester, came barging into the big show this season and promptly batted his way to the regular first baseman's job. Now he is anxious to bat the Cards to the National League pennant.

His average is around .360 and he has furnished the stickwork in two of the three straight victories scored over the Cubs, lifting the Cards to three games in front.

Mize Wins Game

In the series opener, he hit a run-tying single in one frame and a homer with two on in the next to give the Cards a 6 to 1 win. In the second game he made one single and let the rest of the Cards win the game, 4 to 1. Yesterday, with Dizzy Dean fogging 'em in, Mize hit his 14th home run in the 11th inning and won the ball game, 3 to 2. Dizzy's pitching was commendable as he took the decision over Root, who had relieved Lee.

Rain washed out the rest of the National League games and left only three in the American.

Indians Beaten

The Yankees idled, but gained a half game, stretching their lead to 11½ when the second place Indians were held to 7 hits and shutouts 9 to 0, by Lefty Jake Wade of the Tigers.

The White Sox moved up to within a half game of the Indians by taking both ends of a double header from the Browns, 9 to 6 and 4 to 1. Deitrich being the only starter for either side in either game to finish. He allowed only five hits in winning the nightcap.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Joe Louis and Jack Sharkey are in training for their coming bout. Louis is training at Pompton Lakes, N. J., and Sharkey is training at Orangeburg, N. Y. Among the visitors to Louis' camp yesterday was Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, who despite his 58 years, is still very spry. Sharkey did his work inside owing to rain.

Helen Jacobs arrived at New York from England yesterday and said she is not yet ready to lay aside the racquet. She said she intends to stay in competition for several more years, defending her national doubles crown with Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, at Brookline, Mass., this month and her national singles title at Forest Hills in September

Frankie Parker defeated Bobby Riggs and Gregory Mangin, national indoor champion, won from John McDiarmid at Southampton, N. Y., yesterday. The favorites who were eliminated from the Meadow club's tournament were J. Gilbert Hall, who lost to Eugene Smith and Charley Harris, who was beaten by Arthur Hendrix.

Richard Weber, 15 year old Toledo archer, won the boys championship Thursday at Battle Creek with a score of 2,356, in the National Archery tournament. Hollis Hanchett, Inglewood, Cal., champion last year, was runner-up to Weber with 2,316 points. Both totals broke the record established last year by Hanchett.

"Greg" Ross Sets Softball Record

Keystone A. C. Pitcher Fans 21 Men In Eight Inning Game, Keys Win

Gregory Ross, late of the Radiators softball team, entered the New Castle softball hall of fame at Carnegie Field last night, as he fanned 21 Penn Power batters in an eight inning game. The Keys won 9 to 0. Ross gave up but three hits to the Powerhousers.

This is believed a record that will stand for many days to come. Only 24 men faced Ross, and 21 of them sat down perplexed, at his dazzling speed. Davies, Robinson and Smith had the three hits for the losers. The Keys found Van Dusen for 10 hits.

The Keys would like a game for Sunday. Call 4151M and ask for Rocco.

Sculptors Like Walter Podolak

Like Marshall, He Is One Of Best Built Men In Mat Game

EXPECT McLEOD TO KEEP HIM BUSY

Tuesday will be a red letter day in wrestling, locally, as it will be the first time that a man regarded as world's heavyweight champion in many states of the Union will make his debut. He is Everestt Marshall, Colorado, who will have Frank Sexton, ex-gridder of Ohio State, as his opponent.

All of the others have appeared here and according to Bill Lion, the matchmaker for Peter Askounes, everyone of them knows his wrestling from W to G. He believes that the matches as made should produce a lot of good wrestling and tight competition.

Marshall and Podolak are most beautifully built of the eight. In fact, if the champ is better moulded than the Syracuse blonde, he will have to go some because Podolak is the delight of artists and sculptors. He has posed not only in the United States but also in Europe.

It isn't likely he will have much time to pose in the ring Tuesday night because George McLeod is a busy-body, as fans will attest. McLeod keeps going all the time and likes to do his wrestling on the mat instead of standing up on his feet.

Tony Marchoni and Eddie Conley are scheduled for a bout as are Morrie Suber and Don Wolfe. The Youngstown boy was granted a return bout by Suber, who is hopeful of tackling better wrestlers should he be able to turn over Wolfe. They will go on in the first show Tuesday.

Polish Nationals To Play Two Games

Meet Castle Cords Tonight And West Middlesex On Saturday At Glasser Field

Polish Nationals Alliance baseball team will be busy the next two days meeting the newly organized Castle Cords tonight at Glasser Field at 5:45 o'clock, and Saturday meeting the strong West Middlesex Merchants at Glasser Field at 2:30 p. m.

The P. N. A. team defeated Brent yesterday 5 to 1. The Castle Cords are managed by "Bud" Tucker. He has chosen "Hap" Ostrosky to do the pitching. Mescall will go to the front line for the P. N. A. team.

Either Carik or Mrozek will go to the hill for the P. N. A. team against the Middlesexers.

The resettlement idea is good, but how do they know where the soil will resettle.

Gridders Await Opening Drills

Gridders Will Meet Monday August 24 For First Fall Training Drill

Upwards of 100 young tanned healthy Senior High school football candidates are counting the days until Monday, August 24th when they will start training for the 1936 fall campaign at Taggart Field.

After a few days of fundamental drills at Taggart Field, Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will select the boys to make the trip to Muddy Creek Falls for the annual camping period. There are expected to be some merry battles staged at Taggart Field for places on the camp squad.

In another week or two football will be back in "the air." Summer is just about over. The makeup of the team this year is much in doubt with eleven places open for those boys who are willing to work.

German Women Capture Title

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 7—Scoring a second and a sixth place in Thursday's 80-meter hurdles finals, Germany's women's track and field team won the Olympic team title.

Adding six points for a total of 44, the Reich women made team championship a mathematical certainty, even though the high jump event still was to be held. Nearest competitors were more than 30 points behind.

King Boris At Olympic Games, Thrills Eleanor

King Of Bulgaria, Crown Prince Umberto Of Italy And Other Dignataries Attend

By ELEANOR HOLM JARRETT
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—That man Hitler has been to the game every day, and folks, he surely has some distinguished pals.

I am indebted to him for giving me the first look at a real-life king, and also another at a crown prince or two, and a bunch of famous statesmen and two sons of Mussolini.

King Boris Attends.

Art (her husband) and I weren't speaking for a time yesterday because he picked Lovelock as winner of the 1500, and I cheered Cunningham like mad. So I kept myself busy looking over King Boris of Bulgaria, Crown Prince Umberto of Italy, and General Hermann Wilhelm Goering's swell uniform. Gee, how I'd like to have that cap.

I always had imagined kings with sparkling robes and a sceptre, sitting on a red dais, but during the afternoon someone whispered his identity, and I saw Boris, an unassuming man in a dark suit, sitting with Hitler in his box.

He might have been Cecil DeMille as far as looks go, except that his hair, what's left of it, is darkish, the same as his face.

Umberto was in a plain suit also, but after meeting the German crown prince last week in golf shorts, I am ready to believe all crown princes are just fellas who like very much to be human—and ditto for kings from now on.

Praises Cunningham.

I am proud of our Glenn Cunningham, even if he didn't cop first place. After all, he broke the world's record, too. He is a sweet, unassuming boy!

Lovelock of New Zealand is blond and thin-legged, but he earned his victory.

The only gal really in evidence on the field all day long is Leni Riefenstahl, petite, darkish and pretty, who used to be a film star and now is grinding into cans the 1936 Olympics out there morning and night, bossing a dozen hefty German cameramen, technicians and sound mixers. She regularly wears gray kulotts.

The girls have been wearing divided skirts like these in Europe for a couple of years, I hear. I like 'em. I'm thinking of adapting the same, and let Dietrich have the pants.

LAWRENCE COUNTY LOOP

Bessemer, first half winners in the Lawrence county league, has entered the semi-pro tournament being held in Youngstown, O., July 25 to August 12. As it is an all Ohio tournament Bessemer has entered it under the name of New Middletown and so far have lost one and won one, being defeated by Lisbon Hanna Oils 1-0, and winning over Langsinville Slovak league entry, 19-15. Reports say that Bessemer's catcher, Vlah, and shortstop, W. Stanley, has been signed by Hughey Tate, scout of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bessemer has had to postpone some of their county league games, but feels that it has been for a good cause, as these tournament games are being looked over by several major league scouts. To date the scouts have signed several players for major league farms. All these games are night games and the winner of the Ohio state tournament will be sent to Witchata, Kan., to play in the National league tournament to be held in September.

Although the county league has been playing to large crowds they have had to dispense with association umpires due to the low receipts. The teams now pick their umpires at the game and so far have not run into any trouble, according to Secretary James Martin.

The Lawrence county league has been the means of quite a few players selling their services to Ohio teams. The Marshall brothers, T. Galizia, J. Pepe, Huff, P. McCullough, Gunnett, Snyder and several other players have made good in Sunday ball in Ohio leagues.

Hrvatine, Bessemer's surprise pitcher, has been a little too much for the A. S. & T. P. as the best they have done against him has been a tie game.

Do to Mahoning A. A. lack of cooperation the box scores of several games have not been in the newspaper. The home team, whether it wins or loses, should submit the box score of the game to The News.

The second half pennant still belongs to anybody as there is only two games between the first and last place teams.

Due to so many of their players playing in Ohio on Sunday, Hillsville has announced that they will play all their Sunday games the following Monday.

Smallwood Stricken With Appendicitis

American Athlete Operated Upon In Berlin Hospital—Condition Satisfactory

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 7—Less than two hours after he was stricken with a recurrence of the ailment which laid him low on shipboard enroute to Germany, Robert H. "Bob" Smallwood of the University of California, United States national 400-meter champion, underwent an operation today for appendicitis.

The athlete, who had been scheduled to run in the 400-meter Olympic final later in the day, went under the knife at a west end hospital at 1:50 p. m.

Heroically trying to conceal his pain, as he did aboard the liner Manhattan before he collapsed, Smallwood was rushed to the hospital only after he could no longer control his paroxysms and they were noticed by physicians.

Smallwood was in the operating room an hour.

Physicians said his condition is satisfactory.

The operation was performed by Dr. Neupert, director of the hospital, assisted by Dr. Walsh.

According to Coach Lawson Robertson, the recurrence was caused by the hard 400-meter runs by Smallwood yesterday preparatory to the final today. Americans had depneded upon Smallwood to place at least third in the final before his illness eliminated him.

Gersons-Croton Arrange Series

The Gersons and Croton M. E. softball teams have arranged a series of softball games for the sport fans of New Castle. The first game will be played Monday night at the Gaston Park Field. The second game will be Thursday at Elders Field.

The Crotons have not been defeated this year in the church league. Both managers Snow of Croton and Dave Riley of the Gersons will have strong lineups on the field. There will not be any padding of the lineups. The games will start promptly at 6 o'clock.

Ryantown Trims New Bedford 6-0

Tommy Strausbaugh Holds New Bedford To Two Hits In Fast Game

GROVE CITY TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Ryantown baseball team took the New Bedford team to town last night at the New Bedford Field 6 to 0, with Tommy Strausbaugh, the Ryantown ace hurler on the hill and dishing up but two scratch hits to the border-liners. It was announced that the Ryantown team will play the Grove City Merchants at Ryantown Field Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Strausbaugh was master of the situation last night in every inning. He whiffed 10 to the New Bedfordians. Porada, Strausbaugh, Coughlin and Walters hit the ball the hardest.

Ryantown had eight hits off of Grenwald the lad who pitched that no-hitter the other day.

The West Side Firemen are asked to get in touch with Ryantown for a Sunday game at the Ryantown Field.

Boro Council Has Regular Meeting

Contractor Is Granted 30 More Days In Finishing New City Building

CITY SOLONS VEXED AT EXTRA COSTS

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7—Upon request, the Heller Brothers, contractors for the new municipal building under construction in Ellwood City, were granted 30 more working days to finish the job than originally scheduled by the Borough Council at its monthly meeting in the city building, Thursday night.

This was due to some bad weather which prevented any work. In discussing the building it was found that the city is scheduled to pay $9,000 more than the original estimate as a result of some new and extra work. Council became vexed at such oversights and asked an investigation.

Councilmen William McGlincey and J. P. Meneice, the latter chairman of the building committee, asked the reason for a charge of six dollars extra per thousand on 42,000 bricks, when council had selected the best bricks possible and contracted for a certain price. Architect B. J. McCandless stated that his condition had been brought about by the WPA and is similar all over the state. As a result of this discussion Council voted to send Borough Manager L. W. Monroe to Harrisburg to inquire into these things and make arrangements with the government to pay 45 per cent of the extra costs. All action was postponed on the building until the return of Mr. Monroe.

W. M. Society At Kirk Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—With pleasing hospitality Mrs. R. H. Kirk received members of the Women's Missionary society of the Wurtemburg U. P. church at her home at Wurtemburg last evening for the regular August meeting with seven members in attendance.

Mrs. J. E. Caughey was the leader with the group hearing reports of the national convention which was held in June in St. Louis. All of the members took part in the discussions.

Initial plans were formulated for their annual "dollar-day" dinner. After a social period the hostess served an appetizing lunch.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, September 3, with the place to be later announced.

C. E. SOCIAL

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—An enjoyable event of Thursday evening took place at the Waterfield home at Riverview when members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Hickory Knoll Churcha of God gathered there for a social time.

The large number of members participating in the affair spent the evening in a pleasant manner with outdoor games as the diversion. A wiener roast concluded the event.

W. W. CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY Aug. 7.—This evening members of the Willing workers club of the Hickory Knell Church of God will hold their final meeting at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hall of Fombell. Final plans will be made for attending the Leadership Conference from Aug. 10 to 17 at Champion Pa. Westmoreland county.

Mrs. Nellie Hazen Is Class Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Members of the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church were entertained in a pleasing manner last evening when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Nellie Hazen at Smiley Stop for the regular August meeting with a majority of members attending.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Frank Foreman. During the business meeting plans were made to entertain members of the Kiwanis club at the church in the near future. Secret sisters were exchanged at this time.

An informal social period followed with the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. K. Myers and Miss Ada Smiley, serving a tempting repast.

Mrs. Floyd Worrell invited the group to meet at her home on the Ellwood-New Castle road for the next meeting on Thursday evening, September 10.

Powell Reunion In Ewing Park

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—About 50 were present at the Powell reunion yesterday in Ewing Park.

Council Passes City Ordinances

Grading And Paving Ordinances For Streets Are Passed Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Several ordinances were passed by the borough council of Ellwood City at its monthly meeting in the city building last night.

An ordinance permitting the proper officers of the borough to enter into and execute an agreement between the Pittsburgh and Western railroad and the B. and O. railroad for building a sewer line through their property in the West End. It was moved by Councilman William McGlincey that the ordinance be passed on third and final reading.

Two grading and paving ordinances were passed on second reading when council suspended its rules. One was from Bridge street to College street and the other from Hazel avenue to College street. A specimen noise ordinance was referred to the police committee for a study and recommendation to council at its next meeting.

A letter of thanks and appreciation was received from Denny Schill, soap box derby director, and filed by council. The recommendation of the finance committee to decorate a truck for the community picnic at a cost not to exceed $25 was passed by council.

A recommendation of the electric light and gas committee to purchase a new truck for the electric light department, as the old one needs a general overhauling and has outlived its usefulness, was passed by council. The committees recommendation was also endorsed by Councilman P. R. Fike who stated that the old truck could only be retained at a loss to the borough.

The American Oil Company was given permission to cut 29 feet off a curb on Lawrence avenue for a service station. They will give free parking space in the rear of the building to accommodate more cars than there could be at the curb. This will be in charge of the burgess and police committee.

A complaint of a sign board on Lawrence avenue was referred to the police committee, who stated that arrangements have been taken to remedy the matter by Monday. A request of the Beaver Enameling Company for a fire hydrant was referred to the fire and water committee with power to act.

Council went on record as doing all in their power to aid the community picnic here tomorrow to be the greatest in Ellwood City's history. Various improvements and suggestions for Ewing Park were made and accepted.

Thompson Plans Governor Fight

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, today was laying plans for his campaign for the governorship of Illinois on the Lemke-Coughlin third party ticket.

Thompson, in announcing his candidacy yesterday said:

"We are all together, Lemkeites, Townsendites, Coughlinites, Huey Longites, Laborites and the American people are going down the pike together in November."

Ellport Schools To Open Sept. 28

Change In Opening Date Is Made Because Of Building Work

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—School pupils of Ellport boro are rejoicing over the decision of the school board to delay the opening date of school until Monday, September 28, but they won't be so happy next spring when they have to attend school a month later than their friends of the surrounding school districts.

The board came to this decision when they convened in regular session on Thursday morning at the Bend schoolhouse. Again September 28 the new two-room stone building adjoining the present school will be completed. The new building which has been constructed by means of WPA funds for laborers is very attractive.

Miss Rachael Reynolds, of New Castle, was elected as teacher of the fourth grade to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Emma Perry. Miss Perry has secured a teaching position in the Ellwood schools.

Lee Gallaher, of Ellport, was again elected as janitor for the approaching term.

The contract for furnishing the plumbing fixtures and materials for the new schoolhouse was awarded to Frank Cole of this city.

This district has received a special grant from the Department of Public Instruction amounting to $1,200 to be used for the payment of past due high school tuition to the Ellwood City board.

Tax returns for the month of July were large.

FORGOTTEN!

A successful business man, after eight years of absence, alighted at the station of the old home town There was, despite his expectations, no one on the platform whom he knew. No one.

Discouraged, he sought out the station master, a friend since boyhood. To him at least he would be welcome, and he was about to extend a hearty greeting, when the other spoke first.

"Hello, George," he said. "Going away?"

Stock Market Tone Is Firmer

Leaders Hold Gains Running To More Than Two Points In Some Cases

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Stocks maintained a firm tone today with leaders holding gains running to more than two points despite light realizing.

The advance continued to be paced by rails, with steels, motors and a few speculative "blue-chips."

In the carriers new peaks for the year were reached by Union Pacific, M. K. T. preferred, Southern Railway common and preferred. New York Central and Atchison also were higher.

Chrysler led motors, ruling two points above higher around 120. General Motors climbed a point.

Bethlehem rose a point in steels, while Youngstown and U. S. Steel improved fractionally, the former to a new top.

Allied Chemical, up more than two points, Union Carbide about one, and Gimbel Brothers were at new highs for the year.

Rayon and Celanese issues were in demand. Utilities, coppers and aviations were moderately higher. Firestone was weak and U. S. Rubber up a point in the rubber section.

Bonds were led upward by industrials. Italian liens again were under pressure. Grains continued weak. Cotton was steady.

Record Made By Special Session

Variety Of Legislative Achievements Included In Actions Taken

TAX PROGRAM IS LEADING FEATURE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7—A variety of legislative achievements, carrying out a major portion of the subjects contained in Gov. George H. Earle's call for the emergency session, were written into the records of Pennsylvania's 19th special session today.

Highlights of the session accomplishments included the following legislation:

1. Enactment of a relief program for the remainder of the year and passage of tax bills to provide $45,000,000 for that program.

2. Passage of mothers' assistance and old age assistance programs to enable the state to participate in benefits of the federal social security act.

3. Enactment of bills to permit a start in a flood control program for the state.

4. Provisions of funds to carry out a portion of requested improvements at state institutions.

Other highlights of the senate were afforded in investigation proceedings climaxed by adoption of a resolution calling for a senatorial inquiry into charges that electoral freedom is being denied to persons on relief and concluded with the investigation against Judge Benjamin Atlee, Lancaster, that threatened to result in impeachment proceedings.

Tax Program.

Of principal interest to both legislators and public was the enactment of the $45,000,000 tax program to cover unemployment relief needs through the remainder of the year. Governor Earle, on the basis of relief requirements as estimated by Karl De Schweinitz, state relief director, originally asked the legislature to appropriate $70,991,000, but later reduced that estimate to $55,000,000 when an additional 30,000 persons were removed from the relief rolls by having extended the time limit for WPA employment.

With that figure presented as the administration's lowest estimate, Republican forces intimated they would not approve more than a $35,000,000 relief appropriation. Gradually, leaders of the two parties brought their estimates closer together until finally the $45,000,000 compromise figure was agreed on.

Thousands of unemployed who laid siege to the capitol more than a fortnight ago, demanding $100,000,000 for relief, held the senate gallery to the end. During their riotous invasion, they camped in the $13,000,000 capitol building, halting legislative procedure for two hours at one time with their uproar in the senate chamber.

The total tax program for the session amounted to $50,000,000, with $5,500,000 added to the $45,000,000 for non-relief purposes. By a series of transfers, repayments and diversions of state funds, together with the authorization for an emergency state bond issue of $1,000,000, the $5,500,000 was provided. Party leaders then agreed on the taxes to finance the relief program.

The main revenue bill called for a three-mill increase in the personal property tax to yield $18,000,000. With it was a similar increase in the corporate loans tax estimated to raise $3,000,000.

An increase of four per cent in the corporate net income tax was slated to bring in $10,850,000, while a 10 per cent tax on retail liquor sales was passed with an estimated yield of $7,500,000. Another four per cent liquor tax, to be imposed on the vendor rather than the consumer, was to produce $1,400,000 in revenues. A tax on the stock of banks, savings institutions and trust companies was estimated to yield another $2,500,000, while other taxes included a levy on joint inheritances, to yield $500,000, and a six-mill increase in the tax on gross receipts of utilities for an emergency six-months period to yield $1,250,000.

Why British Are Becoming Alarmed

This map indicates why the British, together with the French, are becoming alarmed over possibilities of a Fascist victory in Spain. If Italy intervenes in behalf of the rebels, it is rumored that Premier Mussolini would be rewarded with a naval base in the Balearic islands. It is believed also that the rebels have promised Fuhrer Hitler that Germany shall have a naval base in the Canary islands should he give aid. That would be a menace to the British trade route down the west coast of Africa, which not only is a direct track to South Africa but also is considered as an alternate route to Australia and India in case of difficulties in the Mediterranean. German warships already have put in an appearance at the rebel-controlled port of Cueta, across the Strait of Gibraltar from the great British fortress of Gibraltar. The incident of the German visit created tremendous international repercussions for the Nazi ships arrived just as loyal Spanish ships were preparing to shell the port in order to regain it. They could not do so, then, without hitting the German ships.

Senate Approves Local Appointments To Various Boards

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7—Appointments of four members of Gov. Geo. H. Earle's cabinet, one Public Service Commissioner and three members of the milk control board remained unconfirmed today following senate approval of appointments of three members of the state liquor control board.

Before sine die adjournment, the senate approved appointments of Walter T. Grosscup, Leo A. Crossen and W. Worrel Wagner, liquor board members, but failed to confirm those of secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly, secretary of Welfare John D. Pennington, secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore and secretary of Forests and Waters Jas. F. Bogardus. Appointments of Howard G. Elsaman, Charles T. Carpenter, and Howard C. Reynolds, as members of the milk control board were ignored along with that of Public Service Commissioner Thos. C. Buchanan. Buchanan, however, was reappointed early today by Governor Earle.

Some Approvals

Mrs. Catherine Hansell Earle, mother of Governor Earle, was approved as a member of the state welfare commission along with Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Pittsburgh, sister of Senator Joseph F. Guffey; Paul N. Schaeffer, Reading; S. J. Waterworth, Clearfield, and Frank E. Baker, Bala-Cynwyd.

State officials not aproved by the upper chamber must receive an ad interim commission from the governor to continue in office from now until the 1937 regular session when their appointments will again be considered by the senate.

Other executive appointments approved by the senate included:

McKean County Mothers' Assistance Board.—Mrs. Ida E. Johnson, Bradford; Mrs. Laura B. Moss, Port Allegany; Mrs. Emma G. Bovaird, Bradford; Mrs. Grace P. Nunnemaker, Bradford.

Slippery Rock State Teachers College Trustees—John H. Wilson, Butler; Mrs. Agnes B. Howley, New Castle; F. A. Barkley, Beaver; W. R. Hockenberry, Slippery Rock; Chas. G. Campbell, Beaver; John L. Wise, Butler.

Lawrence County Mothers' Assistance Board—Miss Clara C. Duff, New Castle; Mrs. Stella Haines, Ellwood City; Mrs. Laura Holliday Miller, New Castle; Mrs. Francis Hall Thomasson, Ellwood City.

Edinboro State Teachers College Trustees—C. E. Bordwell, Warren; Ritchie T. Marsh, Erie; Charles B. Stegner, Titusville; F. A. Loveland, Corry; Albert L. Thomas, Meadville; Miss Rowena MacBride, Sharon.

Pennsylvania Historical Commission—Paul W. Gates, Lewistown; Bruce A. Hunt, Williamsport; Frank W. Melvin, Philadelphia; Ross Pier Wright, Erie, Miss M. Atherson Leach, Philadelphia.

Appointment of Mrs. Bernice A. Shannon, New Castle, was confirmed as a member of the Mothers' Assistance fund board, Lawrence county, to succeed Mrs. Grace W. Crawford, resigned. Also confirmed was the appointment of John A. Meehan, New Castle, as a member of the advisory health board.

To him that hath shall be given. The only pepole who get praise are those who don't need it.

Oil Officials Post Bonds For Later Hearing

Two Gulf Oil Executives Among Those Indicted For Alleged Violations

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 7.—Two officials of the Gulf Oil Corporation, who were among 58 persons named with 23 oil companies in a recent federal grand jury indictment charging violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust laws, today had posted bond of, $5,000 each guaranteeing their appearance Sept. 15 before a U. S. commissioner here for hearing.

They were J. F. Drake, president, and H. C. Meyer, manager of the company's refined oil sales for the southern division. William V. Hartman, vice president of the company, also named in the federal indictments, was out of the city but was expected to take similar action upon his return.

Posting of the bonds was said to be merely "routine" procedure, and the hearing itself, according to government officials, will itself be a mere formality to prove the bonded men to be the individuals named in the indictments.

Sabbath School Executives To Spread Word Of Coming State Convention

The monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association was held in the office of the First Baptist church, New Castle, Thursday evening, with the president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., presiding and the following members present: Harry W. Brown, vice president; Mrs. H. F. Magill, missions superintendent; Mrs. A. B. Street, children's division superintendent; Miss Marjorie Streeter, young people's division superintendent; Mrs. Grace Benford, president Ellwood district; Mrs. D. W. NeNsbitt, associate chairman of lodging for state convention; Dr. T. J. McFate, young people's superintendent of New Castle district; Alice Grimes and D. S. Williams, additional members of the committee.

Plans were made for a visitation of every Sabbath school in Lawrence county Sunday, September 13, in behalf of the State convention that convenes at the Cathedral, New Castle, October 14-15-16. Discussion was also made of missions conference, young people's picnic, and an administrative conference.

Mrs. Benford also furnished a written report of the Christian education that is being promoted in the Ellwood City schools.

In order to stimulate attendance at the state convention from counties adjoining Lawrence, it was voted to invite representatives from Butler, Beaver and Mercer counties to attend the next meeting.

U. S. ACTS TO GUARD PORT ORFORD CEDAR

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—Steps to perpetuate the fast disappearing stands of Port Orford cedar, recognizeed as the most valuable coniferous tree in the west, have been taken by the United States Forest Service.

F. A. Silcox, chief of the forest service, has approved an order designating part of the Siskiyou national forest in southwestern Oregon as the Port Orford cedar experimental forest.

This area of 9,192 acres on the south fork of the Coquille river will be developed for research and demonstration purposes. Best methods of cutting, logging, reforestation and fire protection will be worked out in this giant lumber farm.
